Truman Asks Power to Ration

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (INS)—President Truman personally asked Congress today for broad peacetime powers to control prices and wages and to restore consumer rationing on commodities in short supply, should this be necessary. The Chief Executive, addressing a special session called to cope with high prices at home and dire economic crisis in Europe, urged swift enactment of interim foreign aid legislation and machinery for halting a disastrous inflationary spiral in the United States.

The President declared:

"The future of the free nations of Europe hangs in the balance. The future of our own economy is in jeopardy."

Mr. Truman, in his domestic program, called for three basic steps: Relief of monetary pressures; action to channel scarce goods into the most essential uses through "industrial rationing"; direct action dealing with specific high prices.

Mr. Truman presented a 10-point anti-inflation program:

1—To restore consumer credit controls and to restrain the creation of inflationary bank credit.

2—To authorize the regulation of speculative trading on the commodity exchanges.

3—To extend and strengthen export controls.

4—To extend authority to allocate transportation facilities and equipment.

5—To authorize measures which will induce the marketing of livestock and poultry at weights and grades that represent the most efficient utilization of grain.

6—To enable the Department of Agriculture to expand its program of encouraging conservation practices in this country, and to authorize measures designed to increase the production of foods in foreign countries.

7—To authorize allocation and inventory control of scarce commodities which basically affect the cost of living or industrial production.

8—To extend and strengthen rent controls.

9—To authorize consumer rationing on products in short supply which basically affect the cost of living.

10—To authorize price ceilings on products in short supply which basically affect the cost of living or industrial production, and to authorize such wage ceilings as are essential to maintain the necessary price ceilings.

The President also called for voluntary action by the nation to hold down prices in addition to the imposition of actual price ceilings.

LIMITED GROUP

Mr. Truman declared that if price ceilings are to be imposed wage increases also must be subject to control.

He asked specifically for government authority to regulate wages in those industries and businesses affected by price ceilings.

The President added that it may not be necessary to use such power to regulate wages because, he said, if prices are held down the pressure for upward wage adjustments should be relieved.

Mr. Truman emphasized that his request for price ceilings authority does not extend to all products and commodities.

He emphasized that it should not be necessary to place price ceilings on staple food and clothing items that are not in short supply, or on delicacies and luxuries.

The President linked his request for price ceilings, wage regulation and various other controls directly with the interim aid and long-range Marshall Recovery Plan.

TAFT TO ANSWER TRUMAN AT 10 P. M.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio arranged to make a radio address at 10 p. m. tonight and said he would reply to some proposals in President Truman's message to Congress. He will speak over NBC.

Taft is chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and a candidate for the GOP nomination for President.

He declined comment on Mr. Truman's message prior to his radio talk.

Seize Soviet Scientists in Greenland

By DAVID SENTNER
Boston Evening American
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Three groups of Soviet scientists, purportedly studying weather conditions, were recently discovered and ejected from Greenland, it was learned today. Greenland is approximately 2500 miles from Boston and New York—cities within range of a missile or rocket as developed in the postwar period if fired from such an Arctic base.

The Soviet Union, known to be conducting advanced experiments with self-propelled and guided rocket weapons, was reported to be highly jittery over the successful development by the U. S. Navy of long-range atomic missiles which can be launched from surface ships.

The Soviet Union, a land power devoid of an appreciable navy, is represented as realizing the American Navy provides thousands of potential floating island bases to launch these missiles.

The shock to the Red Army leaders of the American advance in new atomic weapons is coupled with perturbation over the failure of Soviet scientists to solve the atomic bomb detonating secret, according to informed sources here.

REDS FLEE 'BOMB'

ROME, Nov. 17 (AP)—Soviet personnel hurriedly left their embassy last night when a bundle was found in the lounge, Giornale D'Italia reported today. Police found the package contained three bottles of beer plus a note saying "these are not bombs."

Gunmen Get $1800 In Roxbury Holdup

Two youthful gunmen, one with prematurely gray hair, held up the assistant manager of a Roxbury restaurant in the rear yard of the National Shawmut Bank branch at Dudley st. and Harrison ave., Roxbury, today and escaped with $1800.

Joseph Mazzapica, of East Seventh st., South Boston, of the Hampden Grill in Albany st., told police he had driven to the bank with his bookkeeper, Miss Harriet Swartz, 20, of Floyd st., Dorchester, to deposit the restaurant's week-end receipts.

He said he had parked his car and was getting out to enter the rear door of the bank when the two men approached.

One of the men had a blue-steel revolver, and the other had his hand in his pocket as though holding a gun, he said.

"Give us what you've got!" said the man with the gun.

As he hesitated, he said, the other grabbed him by the shoulder and said: "Come on, come on; hurry up!"

The man with the gun then snatched the three envelopes containing the money, and the pair fled to a black sedan parked near by and headed up Warren st. in the direction of Grove Hall.

Mazzapica described the pair as about 28 years of age, both wearing gray topcoats and soft hats, and each about 5 feet 8 inches tall and of medium build. One, he said, had prematurely gray hair.

Father of 9 Suicide In Newburyport Home

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 17—Joseph G. Liberty, 37, Atwood st., hanged himself in the bedroom of his heatless home today, police reported, because he could not bear the suffering of his wife and nine children, ranging in age from 10 months to 14 years.

Liberty, an unemployed tanner, was declared a suicide by Medical Examiner Dr. Frank W. Snow. His wife told police that Liberty was worried about money and had talked of doing away with himself. City official were acting to provide shelter and food for the family.

South End Man Slain In Holdup

Nate Binder, 55, Massachusetts ave., Back Bay, was shot and killed in his Columbus ave., South End, clothing store today by a holdup man who escaped after scooping all but a nickel from the cash register.

Police sent out a radio call for the arrest of a Negro between 25 and 30 years of age, five feet six, weighing about 185 pounds and wearing a jacket of black and white checks.

A customer found Binder stretched on the floor in a pool of blood in a rear showroom. Police discovered a discharged .32 caliber cartridge on the floor. A small pool of blood was discovered on a showcase.

The bullet had entered Binder's right eye.

Police sent out the radio message after questioning a boy and two men. Supt. Fallon and Capt. Louis DiSessa took charge of the investigation.

Binder, who had operated the store for 35 years was held up and slugged there two years ago. On that occasion, two bandits forced him into the rear room at gunpoint and one slugged him with a blackjack. They escaped with his wallet.

Exclusive Record-American Photos by Carroll Myett

Baby Trapped 2 Hrs. In Washing Machine

Richard Brown, two years and 11 months, of Cedar st., Roxbury, was in a tight fix for two hours this morning, up to his neck in the spindrier of a washing machine, while police and firemen used cold chisels, hacksaws, monkey wrenches and snippers to get him out of it.

It was Richard's own doing. He had climbed into the spindrier while his mother, Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, was looking the other way—and he was well nigh invisible when she did look.

She was unable to lift him out, so telephoned a neighbor. The neighbor brought her own child, Betty Ann, 2, a pal of Richard's. Her job was to keep him cheerful while the two women tried to free him.

POLICE, FIREMEN CALLED

They couldn't budge him. Mrs. Brown telephoned her husband at work, who told her to call police. Patrolmen Edward Greeley and George Curley took one look and called for firemen, six of whom arrived, including District Chief John F. Sampson and Capt. Thomas Manning.

One fireman suggested they pour oil in the spindrier, thus greasing Richard enough to ooze him out. This was rejected in favor of the hacksaw and cold chisel job. While the firemen were laying out their tools, little Betty Ann brought him a picture book, but the tools intrigued him more.

Operation Richard then began. They stuffed a blanket around his torso to protect his innards. They couldn't stuff it any deeper because Richard was sitting on the vertical spinner, a fidgety seat at best.

Richard accepted a glass of water. He rejected a piece of cake with a blase wave of his hand. As the firemen hammered, unscrewed and sheared the spindrier's outer shell, Richard's eyebrows flew up at each impact. His grins indicated these were the most marvelous noises he had heard in all his young life.

The straining firemen got through the outer shell and attacked the inner casing, using the cold chisels carefully lest they nudge Richard in the vitals.

SPINDRIER WRECKED

For the first time, an expression of anxiety crossed his face. The hitherto fascinating tools were getting closer to home. He was pleasantly distracted, however, when a fireman took off his hat and let him try it for size. A policeman followed suit. Richard became deliriously happy, thinking the hats were outright gifts. The scowl he gave these Indian givers when they retrieved their headpieces showed plainly what he thought of them.

At precisely the two-hour mark, they sprung Richard. Fireman Frank Connors lifted him out and handed him to his mother. Richard seemed all right but when he tried to walk his legs gave at the hinges, what with having been cramped and all, so they took him to City Hospital just in case.

It turned out he was in perfect shape, which was more than you could say for the spindrier.

Fall River Officials Indicted

3 Indicted In Fall River Graft Probe

FALL RIVER, Nov. 17—City Councilors John F. Doyle and Charles F. Lapointe and Public Works Comr. Thomas J. Logan were indicted today by the Bristol County grand jury in its probe into alleged graft conditions in this city.

Doyle, 48, Kenyon st., and Logan, 50, Acacia st., were charged in the first of six indictments returned with conspiracy to defraud the city in connection with the awarding of contracts for the construction of $223,000 worth of sidewalks.

In the second indictment Doyle was charged with four counts of larceny of more than $100 in property and money from the city in connection with sidewalk contracts awarded in 1943, 1944, 1945 and 1946.

The third indictment charged Doyle with soliciting bribes of $5000 from Dr. Norman A. Dubois, of Needham, assistant professor of chemistry at Northeastern University, who owns property at Sandy Beach where the city desired to build a sewerage plant. The indictment alleges Doyle sought $1000 for himself and four other councilors for a favorable vote on the land deal.

The fourth indictment charges Councilor Lapointe with soliciting a $200 bribe from Henry C. Aguier an applicant for a taxi licence. In the fifth indictment Doyle is similarly charged.

The sixth indictment charges Doyle and Lapointe with conspiracy in the bribery attempt on Aguier.

At the time of its report the grand jury also handed Judge Joseph L. Hurley a secret indictment which was impounded.

Dist. Atty. J. Edward Lajoie announced he would be ready to go to trial on some of the indictments within 10 days.

Bill Asks $3800 For Walter Steele

Walter E. Steele, arrested last January on a charge of murdering Rene Cote, Brockton garage foreman, would be paid $3800 compensation under the terms of a resolve filed today with the Senate clerk by Sen. Charles G. Miles, of Brockton.

Steele was implicated in the crime by Cote's wife, Mrs. Bertha S. Cote, who was herself arrested on a murder charge after Steele was freed Jan. 20.

In his resolve Miles declared Steele suffered physical, and mental anguish, great expense and damage to his reputation because of the "false arrest."

STASSEN URGES TAX CUT

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 17 (AP)—Harold Stassen today called for a $3,000,000,000 federal tax cut, mainly on income taxes, and advocated a $6,000,000,000 aid program for Europe in 1948.

BOY UNHURT — After two hours of being trapped in the washing machine spindrier, into which he had climbed, little Richard is freed (above). Police and firemen used a variety of tools in the rescue . . . and received unexpected co-operation from the youngster during the entire period of the child's "confinement." Of course Mrs. Brown is overjoyed that her boy escaped unhurt, but you can safely wager that the spindrier (at left), which resembles a well-opened can, isn't a cheery sight to her.

Lake Watches Night Patrol Find Girl Suicide in Berlin

By AUSTEN LAKE
Boston American Staff Correspondent

BERLIN (With the U. S. Occupation)—The other side to the grim, daylight squirmings of this city—its unceasing turbulence in quest of fuel and food—is the night life of that small part of the people who have money enough to hunt amusement or sufficient strength to stir up mischief. The former go to the cave-of-the-winds bierstuben. The latter prowl the streets.

So I joined the Saturday night MP jeep-patrol and went with Lt. Jim Sykes of Detroit on his nocturnal rounds of the town, a slow stroll that started boresomely and ended in tragedy.

"Wife's sure sore at me," commented Jim. "Third straight week-end I've caught duty. She's gone to the movies." He slapped his police club in a gloved palm and told the MP driver, "Let's look at the beer joints."

It was a routine series, the jeep halting at dimly lit bars while MPs circled the silent patrons, looking for U. S. soldiers who were out of bounds. In one, an American PFC jerked to attention as Sykes walked up, his red-haired girl companion dropping her jaw and the contents of her purse.

"You know better'n this, soldier," said Sykes with paternal calm. He jotted down the man's name and outfit and added, "Report to quarters. Your week-end's over." The boy saluted and left sheepishly with the red-haired girl. "German joints are off-limits to Americans," commented Sykes.

MEIN HAUS ROBBED

Along Danziger-Strasse a man shouted and came running out of the darkness toward the jeep. He spoke in halting English.

"Mein haus vas robbed," he panted. "Dere's a mann oop dere." He pointed to a darkened apartment, "I dink he's gone in dere." Sykes picked up his night stick and followed the jibbering German up a flight of rickety stairs. "Here iss," faltered the man.

The officer knocked on a door, commenting,

"Hell of a note. American MPs have to get a search warrant to enter a German house. The German police just bust in."

A middle-aged woman opened the door, looking startled at the white-trimmed MP uniform.

"Ja," she said, "there iss a junge mann here." A bob-haired silly-faced youth came from an inner room, automatically extending his identity paper called a "Kencard (Kennkarte)." Obviously the police were no strangers to him. "This him?" asked Sykes, turning to the fumbling complainant, who said he didn't know. "Okay, brother," said Sykes, "dry run." He stamped disgustedly down the stairs. "Can't make a pinch," he said, "unless somebody prefers charges. The German cops just grab'm on suspicion. We can't."

STREET FIGHT HALTED

Along Kaiserdamm-strasse a nifty street fight was in progress between several shadowy figures, two in uniform.

"Hold it," said Sykes, hopping out. Two French soldiers and a German were in a tight tangle, the soldiers clearly drunk. Sykes pried them apart with his stick and one soldier explained "Nous sommes amusons seulement (We're only fooling)." A German girl, who had run away at the sight of the jeep, watched furtively from a distance. "G'wan amuse yourself in the French sector," advised Sykes, muttering, "That's the trouble, whenever the Ruskis or Frogs wants play they come over here." Then, philosophically, "Aw well, our guys do the same."

In one of the flashier night clubs which would compare favorably with anything in New York the MP elbowed his way through a throng of waiting people. A ten-piece orchestra was playing "Time On My Hands" and the dancers were all well-dressed.

"Some of our leading black marketeers," observed Sykes, suddenly pausing beside a bald little man in blue serge and saying something in a low tone. Then turning abrubtly he said, "Let's go," waiting till we reached the outside to add, "The CID is casing the joint." (Ed. note—CID is the American Criminal Intelligence.) "They watch these blisters all the time. Pick up a lot of stuff just by listening."

The radio was growling again as we turned into Kronprinzenalee, "Dispatcher to 0-3." The officer cut in on his short wave, "0-3 to Dispatcher, go ahead." The brassy voice resumed, "Investigate incident at 13 Koenigs-strasse . . . K for Kiddo, O for Oil . . ." The jeep picked up speed and whizzed through the dark streets at a frightening pace, past Tempelhof airfield and toward the Russian sector.

The radio continued: "O-3! Ger-

ELIZABETH ESCHENLOHR

Tells Probers of Pay Kickback to Meyers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—B. H. Lamarre, president of Aviation Electric Co., testified today that although his salary in 1941 was carried on the company's books at about $31,000, approximately $28,000 of this sum was paid to Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers. He had told the Senate war investigating committee earlier that Meyers put up all the money to organize the firm which received over a million dollars in war business.

Lamarre, who had testified that Meyers took him from a $35 a week job and installed him as head of the company, undertook to explain the complicated bookkeeping arrangement on salary, but Sen. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan took over and summed it up this way:

"Meyers instructed you to pay the salary out to yourself, pay the income tax and then give the rest of the money to him."

The witness assented.

Testimony on the company's war business was received last week. Lawrence D. Bell, president of the Bell Aircraft Corp., said he sent $1,053,000 worth of subcontracts to Aviation Electric at Meyers' suggestion it could handle the business.

SAYS HE REMOVED NAME

Meyers, now retired from the Army, was deputy chief of Air Force Procurement (purchasing) during the war.

Lamarre said he removed Meyers' name from the articles of incorporation at Meyers' direction. He had testified earlier that he was brought into the war contract company to "protect" Meyers' financial interest in the company.

Lamarre said that his wife was secretary to Meyers when the Army officer gave him the job with the Dayton firm.

Lamarre testified that Meyers put up the $500 for the original capital investment, although the 500 shares of stock were not issued in his name, and that he later paid bills aproximating $6000 and received 6 per cent demand notes in return.

FIVE EMPLOYES IN FIRM

He said further that Meyers made the original entries in the firm's books at his home at Wright Field, Dayton, in Lamarre's presence.

Committee Counsel William P. Rogers asked him:

"There was no doubt that he (Meers) was the boss and he owned all the stocks?"

"That is right," Lamarre said.

When he arrived at Aviation Electric Co., Lamarre said, he found it had approximately five employes.

Carmine S. Bellino, a committee investigator, testified that Meers' bank account at the Winters National Bank and Trust Co., Dayton, shows withdrawals of $500 on Sept. 20 $500 on Sept. 27 and $5000 on Oct. 21, 1939.

Fraulein Here to Teach At Brown

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 17 (AP) — Twenty-five-year-old Elizabeth Eschenlohr, who is believed to be the first German to come to the United States in a teaching capacity since before the war, maintains that "women are the real heroes in Germany."

The blonde Bavarian girl, who started a one-year assistantship in the division of modern languages at Brown University today, said that "getting a dinner together is by far the worst job at home now."

"Women work twice as hard as men, and desperately. We had soup always, potatoes always—but we couldn't count on anything else."

Miss Eschenlohr was recommended for the Brown University job by Col. H. Stanford McLeod of Providence, Brown graduate and former commander of the Field Artillery group which captured Augsburg, where she has been teaching English in the high school.

She said that "Nazism is something impossible to explain to anybody who has not been through the whole story."

"We could do nothing, but I don't see why, with a reasonable peace, Germany could not become a democracy," she said. "It is hard to be too optimistic about conditions in Germany today.

"In my opinion, there aren't many chances of rebuilding.

"We are stripped of everything, and miserable people are bitter people. We fear partition and separate peace treaties.

"The Marshall Plan seems a fine thing and may save us from a complete breakdown, but everything goes so slowly.

"There is no industry now and if they take the Ruhr from Germany, it will be the end. We want to work and try to get back on our feet, but there's no work, no food, no coal, no nothing."

Pick Lawrence Child Killing Jury

LAWRENCE, Nov. 17—Vincent A. DelleChiaie, 27, of this city, went on trial in superior court today for the murder of 7-year-old Louise Ann Kurpiel, whose battered body was discovered on the north bank of the Merrimac direvr, near the Central bridge here, Sept. 9.

After the jury was impaneled before Judge Abraham Pinanski, it devoted the afternoon to inspection of the spot where the child was found, its position with regard to her home, and similar points which will be described in the state's case.

Malden Landlord Held for Grand Jury

Salvatore Rosi, 62, Malden landlord who for a time defied the U. S. Government at his barricaded home, waived examination before U. S. Comr. Martin C. Hall today on a charge of felonious assault on a deputy marshal and was ordered held in $1000 for the grand jury.

A week ago Rosi was purged of contempt by Judge Arthur D. Healey on a charge of failing to obey the judge's order to allow tenants of his home in Traverse ter., Malden, to have keys to the basement so that they could have coal delivered.

Deputy Marshal Patrick F. Shannon had attempted to serve Rosi with papers in the case last Nov. 5 but was driven away when the elderly man barricaded himself in his home and brandished a gun.

N. H. Murder Clues Hint Ride Attack

EFFINGHAM, N. H., Nov. 17 The gray-haired woman whose nude body was found in woodlands here was slain by a powerful man who offered her a ride to a summer camp and then beat her and strangled her in what might have been a sex attack.

This was the theory pieced together by investigators today as they awaited the arrival here of friends to clinch the identification of the victim as Miss Marie Lysle, 51, of Beverly Shores, Ind., a newly-engaged teacher in the grammar school at Pittsfield, N. H.

On Sept. 6, Miss Lysle disappeared during a trip from Pittsfield to visit Miss Marie Claussenius of Chicago at the latter's cottage in Center Ossipee near here.

Police have retraced her 35-mile trip to Ossipee, where she was last seen in front of the courthouse trying to obtain transportation for the final leg of her tip.

She was driven from Pittsfield to Alton by a fellow teacher, Miss Lillian Tuttle, and from Alton to Ossipee by two other friends.

It is believe she accepted a ride from Ossipee to reach the Roland Park section where the Claussenius cottage is located, but instead was driven to a remote road and beaten, attacked and strangled.

That her assailant was a powerful man was indicated in the police report that five of her lower teeth had been knocked out, apparently by a blow, during a savage struggle.

The noose of cotton webbing used to strangle the woman was tied so tightly that the hyoid bone was fractured, authorities said, giving further evidence of the man's strength.

Meanwhile, the background of Miss Lysle was being traced, particularly in Ipswich, Mass., where she lived from 1934 to 1941. She left Ipswich for extensive travel about the country and a year ago was teaching school in Oakland, Cal.

Acquaintances in Ipswich said she lived quietly and taught a kindergarten class at a house in Green st. as well as running a drapery and slipcover shop in Main st.

Trap Ex-Convict Pair in Murder, Attack on Co-Ed

NEILLSVILLE, WIS., Nov. 17 (AP)—The Clark County sheriff's office said today two ex-convicts sought on the story of rape and murder told by a University of Michigan co-ed had been cornered in an isolated farmhouse by a posse which had called for additional arms and men.

Sheriff Ray Kutsche, tipped by an informant, left with about a dozen deputies at 8:30 a. m. today for the farmhouse, which is 24 miles northwest of this city in the heavily wooded Clark County backcountry.

His office said he determined the pair was in the house and that the two were armed. However, because of the nature of the farm and closeness of the woods, Kutsche determined to pen the fugitives in the house rather than try to force an entry. His office said he had asked for FBI forces and for help from other law enforcement officers. Chippewa County Sheriff Ray Thronson left with a force of deputies.

Carl Carlson

Dane County Dist. Atty. Edwin Wilkie identified the two as Bufford Sennett, 22, Richland Center, and Robert Winslow, 23, Owen, and added a general alarm had been transmitted for their arrest. He said both were former inmates of the state reformatory and Winslow also had served a year in state prison for escape from the reformatory.

A car was stolen from a farmyard at Yuba, Wis., Saturday night and the youths were believed to have taken it after abandoning their blood-stained car near Hillsboro.

Personal papers of one of the youths were found in the abandoned car which also contained some of the co-ed's clothing.

No warrant as yet has been issued for the youths, who were identified through photographs.

Dist. Atty. Wilkie said the girl, Janet Ann Rosenblatt of Cleveland Heights, told the following story:

She came to Madison to see the Wisconsin-Michigan football game, and Friday night she and her brother-in-law, Carl L. Carlson, 25, of Superior, Wis., started to hitch-hike to his home at Badger Village, university housing center, about 35 miles northwest of Madison.

Two men offered them a lift and while they were riding one of them shot Carlson. While he lay dead in the car, both men raped her.

They drove around for 11 hours and the girl said she believed they threw Carlson's body in the Blue river. She escaped from the men when the car stalled on a hill near Hillsboro.

Both Blue river, near Richland Center, and Wisconsin river near Spring Green, were dragged yesterday. Authorities said the co-ed was confused and was unable to point out the spot where the body was thrown.

Royalty Flocking Into London As Beth's Bridal Week Unfolds

By TOM WILLIAMS

LONDON, Nov. 17 (AP)—The greatest assembly of European royalty since the 1937 coronation of King George VI was in London today for the first of a series of brilliant social events preceding Princess Elizabeth's wedding to Lt. Philip Mountbatten Thursday. Most of the 27 members of current and former royal houses expected to attend the wedding already have arrived. With them came thousands of commoners, crowding into already jammed London hotels.

Princess Elizabeth was up at her usual early hour at Buckingham Palace, hurrying through preparations for a party at Saint James's Palace, where the wedding presents are on display.

She started her day by going through correspondence with her secretary and glancing occasionally at workmen decorating the route of the wedding procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey.

One thousand guests were invited to today's party, officially listed as the first of the wedding week functions.

Tonight there will be a state dinner at Buckingham Palace, followed by a dance for 150 guests.

SCOTLAND YARD ON GUARD

Scotland Yard assigned special details to guard the coming and going of no less than four visiting kings and six visiting queens.

Police said Westminster Abbey would be searched by special branch detectives Wednesday night, then sealed until the ceremony.

A full dress rehearsal, witnessed by the Queen and Princesses from a window as the procession left the palace, was staged yesterday along streets lined with thousands who braved freezing weather and a bitterly cold wind to watch the pageantry.

The King and Queen spent a busy Sunday hurrying from one railway station to another to greet the royal guests.

Buckets of Gems Big as Eggs Wedding Gifts to Elizabeth

By INEZ ROBB

LONDON, Nov. 17 (INS)—I have just seen the wedding gifts of her royal relatives to Princess Elizabeth unveiled at St. James' Palace and my jaws are premanently unhinged.

From her father, King George VI, she has received a wondrous diamond and ruby necklace, and all of the gems are "as big as eggs."

See Wedding Broadcast Details on Page 42

From her mother she received a pair of pearl necklaces with 45 pearls. Each and all are the size of marbles. Diamond earrings given to the bride by her mama are of solid diamonds, four inches long and certain to graze the young princess' shoulders with the final gems—12-carat pear-shaped jewels.

Queen Mother Mary's gifts include a truly royal coronet of big diamonds, a necklace in the same class, a pair of exquisite diamond bracelets, another diamond and ruby bracelet and a huge bow-knot brooch of diamonds.

There also is a small tiara or diadem suitable for breakfast or everyday use.

The Nazim of Hyderabad, the world's richest man, has almost put the royal family to shame with a breath-taking diamond tiara and a necklace of such magnificence I am still panting.

From South Africa has come a diamond necklace unmatched in carats and calibre. Twenty-one huge diamonds, the largest about 25 carats, are strung together with diamonds of only slightly lesser heft. With it goes a great diamond bracelet and two enormous diamond rings, one squarecut and one emerald cut.

PRINCELY RAISE

LONDON, Nov. 17 (INS)—Lt. Philip Mountbatten will get a weekly pay raise of $17.50 from the Royal Navy when he marries Princess Elizabeth Thursday.

This is the regular navy allowance for the wife of an officer over the age of 25. His pay will be $52.43 a week.

CAT-ASTROPHE

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 (AP) —Misty, the stowaway cat, was back home today, apparently bored by her plane trip to St. Louis.

The 5-year-old silver Persian owned by Mrs. L. L. Slygh of nearby Brecksville, was unnoticed Saturday morning when she crawled into a crate in which a terrier playmate was being shipped to St. Louis.

Discovered when the plane arrived there, she was recrated and sent home by railroad.

Last night she merely twitched her long tail, blinked her green eyes and went about the business of washing her 9-week-old kitten.

Leaders Pay Last Tribute To Mitton

Civic leaders and those prominent in Boston's business life paid final tribute today to George W. Mitton, 78, chairman of the board of directors of the Jordan Marsh Co., at funeral services at 2 p. m. in Trinity Church.

Officiating clergymen at the services were the Rev. Dr. Frederic C. Lawrence, rector of St. Paul's Church, Brookline, and the Rev. Dr. Theodore P. Ferris, rector of Trinity church.

Out of respect to his memory the Jordan Marsh Co. store was closed all day.

Many employes attended the funeral services, including members of the store's Half Century and Quarter Century Clubs.

Also represented at the funeral were the Thursday Club, Retail Trade Board, Chamber of Commerce, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Co. and many others.

Ushers at the services were Edward J. Mitton, Arthur G. Mitton Jr., George Gardner, George Jackson, Robert Ogden, Charles Clark, Robert J. Dunkle, Jr., Richard H. Edwards, Jr., William A. Everett, James H. Fairclough, Edmund T. Keleher, Dr. William McDermott, George Miller, William Taff, Cameron S. Thompson and Newton L. Walzer.

Burial services were private.

Chamber of Commerce To Hear Philosopher

Dr. Bhaskar Pandurang Hivale professor of philosophy at Wilson College, University of Bombay, India, will be the guest speaker before a meeting of the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce, Nov. 24, at the Hotel Commander, Garden st.

Dr. Hivale holds a Ph. D. in philosophy from Harvard University. He will discuss "The Current Situation in India." He is scheduled to return to India Nov. 30.

I learned about the "other woman" just in time

Imagine finding that "the other woman" threatening your romance is yourself? It almost cost me my man, until I found I was the other woman—the careless one who forgot the importance of personal daintiness. Just in time I realized that skipping my daily Lifebuoy bath meant losing that constant freshness he so admired. I never miss my daily bath with Lifebuoy—the one soap especially made to stop "B.O." Head of ITU Hit by Faction In Own Union

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 17 (INS) —The AFL International Typographical Union and its president, Woodruff Randolph, were censured today by the independent wing of the union for the ITU's no contract policy.

Following an ITU policy meeting in Indianapolis, the independent party issued a statement condemning Randolph for his refusal to sign contracts with newspaper publishers. His leadership was criticized as "short-sighted."

The independents said they favor a continuance of the co-operative relationship with employers. They declared they are opposed to the policy of the present administration because of its utter failure and because it is inadequate.

The no contract policy was evolved at the ITU's convention in Cleveland in August.

The Independent group nominated John R. Evans of Washington to oppose Randolph at next May's union elections.

Reece J. Highfield, business agent of Local 182, of Akron, which signed a contract with ten local printshops last week, defied Randolph to exercise his power to expel the Akron union. The local's signing was the first break in the no-contract front.

Highfield backed up his action in effecting the contract by asserting:

"Employers are entitled to know what they are going to receive in exchange for their dollars."

Charles D. Tucker of Indianapolis, president of the Independent party, characterized the international as getting to be a dictatorship.

man girl pushed or jumped from window. Two American soldiers involved."

Sykes looked at his illuminated watch. "Eleven twenty-five," he said. "My wife's just coming from the movies." Ahead some figures moved in the uncertain light and two men in uniform flagged the jeep as it approached, shying back as they recognized the MPs. Their girl companions, characteristically, scampered into the darkness.

"Gimme your papers," demanded Sykes, his club dangling from a wrist thong. The soldiers produced while Sykes jotted their data down. "Gonna book us?" asked one soldier." "No," said Sykes, "just want to know where to get you in case you are the guys I want."

SCENE OF TRAGEDY

Koenigs-strasse proved a dark tumbled street where the driver bumped along flashing his handlamp on the house numbers. In the distance a light blinked a signal.

"That's it," said Sykes, "German cops." The jeep rolled up beside two green-uniformed police. "Das maedchen fiel (The girl fell)," began one of the police. "Tot? (Dead?)" asked Sykes.

"Ja! Ja!" said the policeman, leading us into a courtyard where there was a large pool of blood. "Voellig tot (Completely dead)." "Sie fiel von dort oben (She fell from up there)."

He spotted a third floor apartment with his torch. Upstairs the four-room suite was a tawdry mass of cheap furnishings where an unkempt hausfrau kept up a hysterical yammer.

"Hello," said a voice, "What's cooking?" The bald little CID man came in, followed by a fat solemn-faced youth and an odd character bearing a flashlight camera. They were something a Hollywood Class-B writer might have dreamed up "Okay! Okay!" barked the little man in his best Ellery Queen manner. "Now start at the beginning."

The hausfrau said she didn't know anything to which the little man retorted, "Nobody ever does!" She didn't know the Americans. Yes, they were drinking and singing, then suddenly a scream and a thump. The little man said abruptly, "Okay," and went out to the small balcony. "I gotta reconstruct the scene," he said to nobody in particular, shaking the balcony rail and making a half-jumping motion.

"Hey," shouted the MP driver from below, "Not there. The blood's over here." The detective flashed his lamp over the balcony, showing the pool some distance to the right. "Oh, yeh," he grunted, going into the kitchen and sniffing at several empty glasses and murmuring "Mmmm."

NO PICTURE WANTED

At this point the photographer inserted his head around the door and asked anxiously, "Don't you want a picture?" The detective waved him away impatiently. "Naw," he said, returning to his deliberations, "now the soldiers were sitting here . . . they get into an argument . . ."

Suddenly he seemed to become aware that he and the fat boy were not alone. He swiveled his head and looked intently at me, demanding, "Who are you?" I told him. He looked puzzled, then snapped, "How'd you know about this case?" I told him. Then, seeming to decide that further research was futile, he ignored me.

Back at his patrol jeep Sykes picked up his radio phone. "0-3 to Dispatcher," he intoned, "Investigation complete at Koenigstrasse. Now leaving scene of incident." He looked at his watch, "Wife oughta be out of the movies," he said, "Let's get some coffee."

At the barracks station house, a nondescript crowd of prisoners milled inside a wooden enclosure where two MP sergeants, a German policeman and a lieutenant catalogued their mischiefs—several young house-breakers, a pair of German youths caught with an automatic rifle, the inevitable drunks and assault cases. "Never seen it so quiet on Saturday night," observed a sergeant who turned out to be Clarence D'Entremont of Cohasset st., Roslindale, brother-in-law of the Boston Record-American radio man, Joe Anderson. "Yeh," yawned the Sarge, "Just like some parts of Boston on New Year's night."

Fishing Boat Crew of Nine Feared Lost

Fears were expressed today that the 85-foot scallop dragger Margie & Pat, unreported since last Wednesday's gale when she was 75 miles east of Chatham Light, may have suffered the same fate of the 113-foot fishing dragger Belle and her 17-man crew, who were last heard from Jan. 9, 100 miles east of Boston.

The Margie & Pat, with nine men aboard, is owned by the Standard Fish Co., which also owned the Belle. She is commanded by Capt. Olaf Thorlund, veteran New Bedford skipper.

Coast Guard planes flew out of Salem and New York at dawn to sweep a wide area to the southeast of the missing vessel's last known position

Meanwhile, at Sandwich and Portland, Me., a dual investigation was being conducted into the sea collision early yesterday off the easterly end of the Cape Cod canal, in which Capt. Douglas O. Creeke, 48, Summit rd., Medford, was drowned.

Creeke was the skipper-owner of the 45-foot dragger Alert, bound for the fishing banks from New Bedford when she was rammed and cut in two by the 7600-ton Isthmian Line freighter Rider Victory about two miles from the Sandwich shore.

Body of One Maine Fisherman Found

FALMOUTH, Me., Nov. 17 (AP)—The body of Jens P. Hjort, 56, of Portland, drowned on a fishing expedition that followed a party celebrating his wedding anniversary, was found today on the shore of the Presumpscott river beside his overturned boat.

Deputy Sheriff John J. Morris identified Hjort as other searchers continued to hunt for Hjort's companion, Walremar C. Jensen, 57, of Portland.

MEOW!

DETROIT, Nov. 17 (AP)—When Mrs. Ellen Garland, 32, called the fire department yesterday and reported a cat stuck in a tree near her home, firemen suggested the problem was one for the humane society.

A few minutes later a box alarm came in and firemen rushed to the scene to find the persistent Mrs. Garland standing nearby.

She repeated her request for aid in getting the cat down. Firemen obliged but then had police arrest the woman for sounding a false fire alarm.

Mother Kills Son In Self-Defense

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 17 (AP)—A 55-year-old mother shot and killed her son, a former boy musical prodigy, early today to prevent him, she told police, from mistreating her or someone else.

Police said the mother, Mrs. Laura Reid, an accountant, signed a statement she shot her son, Leonard, 28, who has been a patient in mental hospitals since 1939, during a quarrel in their home.

The woman said she fired in self defense, after she spurnew her son's improper advances and he threatened "to go out and find someone else."

She had brought Leonard home only yesterday from a mental hospital in Chicago for the Thanksgiving holidays.

U. S. Folklore Comes to Life

It's a collector's item! It's a grand combination of cartoons by Walt Disney and commentary by John Erskine.

It's "Folklore—Made in U. S. A.," in which heroes of American folklore come to life. Disney performs the magic with his cartoon versions of Johnny Appleseed, Paul Bunyan and Pecos Bill, folklore figures, and Erskine writes an entertaining account of American folk tales.

You'll want to save this unique feature, to be published in color in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine issued with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 17 (AP)—Death sat in at the card party Mrs. Annie Meehan, 71, had for three old friends last night.

Mrs. Mary J. Hughes, 67, collapsed and died a few minutes after she sat down at the card table. An hour later, Mrs. Meehan dropped over dead.

New Look Goes To Milady's Feet

New England women discovered today that the "New Look" has extended as far as their pedal extremities when a Roman style of footwear to complete Milady's new appearance made its first appearance at the opening of the three-day New England Shoe Fair.

According to Louis Gordon of New York, the flat, sandal type shoe for evening, beach and informal wear, inspired by centuries-old Roman culture, will hallmark the completely different, 1948 look, for advance spring women's shoe fashion.

There will be many new styles in children's and men's shoes on exhibition this year also. Shoe dealers all agreed that this spring a young man's interest is certainly going to turn to his feet. The show will feature the untraditional uses of grays, blues and rich mahogany reds along with the orthodox browns and blacks.

These "New Look" shoes will be on display at the Hotel Statler, Parker House, and Copley Plaza. The Boston sales offices of companies in the Lincoln st. district will also show them.

Council Victors Show Gains In Recount

A recount of ballots by the Boston Election Board in six disputed City Council contests today showed that the candidates who were originally declared winners in two very close contests were gaining in a partial retabulation.

Robert J. Ramsey who was declared a winner over City Council President ohn B. Kelly in Ward 15, today showed a gain of four votes as the commission finward's 17 precincts. In the original tbaulation Ramsey won by 112 votes.

Ramsey, his relatives and friends maintained a constant vigil at the vault in City Hall Annex where the ballots were stored, from the time they were locek dup on Nov. 4 until they were removed by the commission at 9:30 a. m. today.

In the recount of the Ward 22, Brighton contest, where Vincent J. Shanley was declared a winner over Rep. Charles J. Artesani by 75 votes the retabulation of five of 17 precincts gave Shanley an additional five votes.

Other disputed contests include Ward 8. Roxbury, where Councilor William F. Hurley won over Charles J. Iannella; Ward 9, Roxbury, Councilor Daniel F. Sullivan won over Maurice J. Smith; Ward 14; Dorchester, Julius Ansell won over Herman Carp; Ward 19, Jamiaca Plain, Councilor Thomas L. McCormack won over James J. Craven, Jr.

In Ward 3, North and West Ends and part of the South End, Rep. Joseph Lanigan won over five opponents. In retabulating the vote in that district the commission will have to visit each of the 12 polling places and take the count from the voting machines.

Our years of experience give you the utmost in quality and service—plus unsurpassed values.

ROYALTY GREETED

A red carpet, 20 yards wide, was laid across the drab platform of Victoria station where Queen Frederika of Greece was greeted by the King and Queen, the Duchess of Kent, Lieutenant Mountbatten and Princess Andrea of Greece.

Earlier the King and Queen welcomed King Frederick and Queen Ingrid of Denmark at Liverpool Street Station in London's grimy East End.

Other royalty already here for the ceremony:

The Regent of Belgium, Prince Charles; Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands; King Michael of Romania and his mother, Queen Helen; Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne, and his wife, who came from Lisbon to join his mother, ex-Queen Victoria Eugenie; former King Peter and ex-Queen Alexandria of Yugoslavia; Prince John and Princess Elizabeth of Luxembourg.

Princess Elizabeth spent part of her last week end before becoming a bride at the royal lodge, Windsor. Returning to London yesterday, she drove to Saint James's palace twice during the afternoon to view the wedding presents.

SNOW MOVING DOWN

Her fiance spent Saturday night at his royal naval post at Corsham.

Not even the weather, the coldest in seven months, could chill London's holiday spirit. Forecasters said snow was moving south from Scotland and the ground may be white on the wedding day.

4 U. S. Housewives Attend Fete to Beth

LONDON, Nov. 17 (INS) — America's "Queen for a Day" and three other housewives from the United States were being treated royally today at London's St. James' Palace.

Invited to a royal party, during which Princess Elizabeth's wedding gifts will be displayed, the excited American women include:

Mrs. Rita Benham, Philadelphia, who recently won the radio "Queen for a Day" competition over a U. S. radio hookup.

Mrs. Clementine Hager of San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. Ella Wahages of Somerville, Mass.

Silver-haired Mrs. Hager sent the royal princess a silk negligee, while 54-year-old Mrs. Wahages shipped the bride-to-be a pair of blue garters—just to be sure she had that "something blue" to be worn at her wedding Thursday.

Mrs. Benham, 22, brought with her as a gift from the American people a wrist watch studded with 30 diamonds.

Mrs. Lois Guerrieri of Washington, D. C.—mother of four children—left New York's LaGuardia field by plane yesterday for a flight to London to attend Princess Elizabeth's tea party.

Mrs. Guerrieri, in those few moments that a mother of four children can seldom find, managed to make a green taffeta afternoon gown for the Princess.

Vets Break Up Eisler Meeting

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Nov. 17 (JNS)—War veterans broke up a meeting at which Gerhard Eisler, reputed number one Communist in the United States who was convicted of contempt of Congress, was to speak.

About 50 veterans occupied seats in Rakoczi Hall, heckled preliminary speakers and banged on the floor with their feet. Before the meeting, some 100 veterans paraded outside the hall while 60 police looked on. The veterans carried placards urging "real Americans" not to enter the Communist meeting.

The chairman ended the meeting before Eisler, who faces deportation to Germany, put in an appearance.

1st British Stores Leave Palestine

LONDON, Nov. 17 (INS)—The London Times said today the withdrawal of the British army and military stores from Palestine has begun.

The evacuation is being made from Haifa and by land across the Egyptian border to Port Said, the paper said and it may take one year to be completed. The withdrawal reportedly will be fully under way in five months.

The report said early withdrawal will be slow because of priority given to export of the citrus crop.

Fund Chief Asks Final Gift Drive

The 1948 Community Fund Campaign entered the stretch drive today with Chairman Philip H. Theopold voicing a special appeal to the generosity of Greater Boston residents to put the drive over the top. The campaign ends with a dinner Wednesday night.

Citing examples of the needs of agencies over the past year, he said the Judge Baker Guidance Center, a psychiatric clinic for children, has had to limit the number of new cases.

The Catholic Charitable Bureau could not help 71 children who urgently needed placement in foster homes, Theopold said, and day nurseries reported their waiting lists were larger than the number of children cared for in the nurseries.

He also cited the Boston Provident Ass'n, many settlement houses, The Habit Clinic and the Children's Aid Ass'n as among the numerous examples of Red Feather services handicapped be-

Ma-In-Law Suites Only One Of Apartment Heaven's Aids

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17 (AP) — A Philadelphia apartment house owner advised landlords today to use automatons wherever possible to operate their buildings, but to shower personal attention on tenants. Mayer I. Blum of Philadelphia, who sends flowers to his renters on wedding anniversaries, outlined his credo before the annual convention of the National Apartment Owners' Ass'n.

He declared his "harmonious" relationships with tenants reached their climax recently when 511 of 520 families in his apartment signed leases after the government permitted a 15 per cent increase.

Special services featured in the building, Blum said, range from a parking room for perambulators to "mother-in-law suites" set aside for unexpected guests.

He explained they were possible because of money saved by installations of automatic equipment.

The boiler room, for example, requires the services of only one engineer part of the day instead of five men that would be needed for manually controlled operation, Blum pointed out, adding:

"When we constructed the building, we called in engineers and asked them to provide automatic heating controls which would relieve us of all headaches. When they finished, we thought so much of the control room we set up a glass-enclosed observation deck from which tenants could watch the operation."

Cleric Finds Turban Sesame to South

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—A Negro Lutheran clergyman said that wearing a rented purple turban and affecting a slight Swedish accent caused him to be treated like a "visiting dignitary" on a recent experimental trip down South.

No one asked him if he were a Negro, said Rev. Jesse Weyman Routte, 39, pastor of the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Jamaica, Queens, who reported finding improved racial relations.

Routte told of meeting white civic, social and political leaders in Mobile, Ala., and of riding on a white car of a segregated train and eating in white restaurants. The turban "worked like magic," he said.

Get 1947 Power and Pep with a Brand-New Buick Fireball Engine

To those whose spirits tingle at the thought of stepping away to the tune of today's flashing Fireball power:

To those who dream of touching toe to treadle and unleashing all the zip and go packed in a 1947 Buick straight-eight engine:

Here's a bright and happy idea that makes dreams come true now.

We'll put a sleek new factory-fresh engine — identical with the engines going in our 1947 cars — right in your present Buick. We'll lift out the old engine, lower this sleek new one in its place, hook it up, and there you are with a sweetheart ready for thousands and thousands more miles of thrilling performance and with a car worth much more than it was before. It's the next best thing to getting a new Buick.

How can we do this, when new cars are so hard to get? It's this way. Sheet steel and other parts are short. That holds up bodies and completed cars. But engines are coming along great guns.

So we have these 1947 honeys ready to put in any Buick built in the last 10 years. To do it takes less time than a major overhaul. It often costs less too. And convenient payments can be arranged if you like.

Pretty nice idea, isn't it? Why not look into it today? We'll be glad to go over it in detail with you.

Plot to Assassinate Siam King Charged

BANGKOK, Siam, Nov. 17 (AP)—A spokesman for the military regime which seized control of the Siamese government last week warned today that a would-be assassin is en route to Lausanne, Switzerland, where King Phumpiphon Aduldet is studying.

The spokesman said an attempt to assassinate the 19-year-old king had been planned as part of a conspiracy to overthrow the monarchy and set up a republic—a conspiracy which he declared the Nov. 9 coup forestalled.

FILIPINO DEATH TOLL 40

MANILA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Political feuds growing out of last Tuesday's elections took two more lives today, bringing the death toll to 40.

Mother of Slain Baby Ill, Balks Quiz

Authorities investigating the fatal stabbing of three-month-old Edward Dubiel in his second floor home in Salem Willows were marking time today until given permission to again question the child's hospitalized mother.

Mrs. Eleanor I. Dubiel, 28, a blonde former WAC sergeant, is still in hysterical condition at Salem Hospital, and no further interrogation will be attempted until permission is granted by Medical Examiner J. Robert Shaughnessy and Dr. Dewitt S. Clark.

Mrs. Dubiel said a strange man about 50 years old entered her home in Restaurant row shortly after her husband, Alexander, left for work, and the intruder slashed her in the thigh with a kitchen knife and then stabbed the infant four times.

MAN DIES IN PHILLY FIRE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17 (AP)—A fire which firemen described as one of the worst residential blazes in Philadelphia history left one man dead, five injured, 50 persons temporarily homeless and damage of $100,000 to $150,000. The flames swept eight homes.

Morning Coughs Often Due to Bronchial Asthma

Do you cough and cough, especially mornings and at night? At times do you feel like you were tearing yourself to pieces trying to get rid of strangling mucus and still you choke, gasp for breath, wheeze and often can't sleep? The cause of these devitalizing symptoms may be recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma. In such cases, the very first dose of Mendaco, a physician's prescription, usually starts almost instantly to help relax that clogged up stuffy feeling in the bronchial tubes, then helps Nature loosen and remove thick, strangling phlegm. This helps you get good fresh air into your lungs and promotes restful sleep. Mendaco is not a smoke, injection or spray, but is a tasteless internal medicine which works thru the blood, thus reaching the bronchial tubes and lungs. Mendaco must satisfy in every way or your money back is guaranteed. Ask your druggist for Mendaco today, and take exactly as directed.

History Awards Papers Go Out to Schools Friday

Distribution of examination papers containing questions for the city finals of the Hearst Newspapers National American History Awards will start next Friday, and all public and parochial schools competing in the awards will receive their required number by Monday, Nov. 24, it was announced today by the history committee. The competition will be held the following day.

The examination papers were secretly printed during the weekend, and were being closely guarded. It is indicated from the number of examination blanks being requested from authorities of 45 Boston high schools that more than 10,000 pupils will compete for the local honors that will qualify the winners for the national competition.

The questions in the test are based on American history between the years 1781 and 1825, including the Constitution of the United States. Each contestant will also submit a 250-word essay on a historical subject included in this period.

The examination has been drawn up by Miss Helena Guiney, president of the History Teachers Council, Boston public schools, and head of the history department at Roslindale High School.

All students attending either a public or parochial high school in Boston are eligible for this contest, with the exception of members of families or relatives of employes of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

Union Votes to End 4-Day 'Firing' Strike

DETROIT, Nov. 17 (INS)—Striking Briggs Manufacturing Co. employes voted in Detroit to end their four-day strike and ordered union officials to negotiate the discharge of 30 workers.

About 3000 Briggs members of Local 742, UAW-CIO staged a sympathy strike on Thursday when the 30 men were discharged for refusing to work because it was "too cold." The unauthorized walkout was called on the same day the UAW-CIO executive board in Atlantic City passed a resolution banning "wildcat strikes."

Fifth of New-Borns Face Cancer Peril, Expert Warns

Of all the children being born in the United States, 20 per cent of the boys and 22 per cent of the girls are likely to be afflicted with cancer at some time in their lives.

This was the statement today of Dr. Leonard Scheele, director of the National Cancer Institute, who addressed specialists attending the six-day Cancer Institute at Harvard Medical School.

Dr. Scheele based this prediction on statistics of total numbers of victims. He added that without mounting life expectancy, now set at 66 years, there will be an increase in cancer cases because the disease usually attacks those in the middle and old age groups.

Arthur T. Lyman, president of the Massachusetts Division of the American Cancer Society, declared:

"Lay education should be carried forward until the fear of knowing the diagnosis is cancer is overcome."

Dr. Shields Warren, who performed medical research on the Bikini atomic bomb test, said investigations show that cancer is not one disease but many, with several causations. Researchers now include biochemists and biologists, he added.

THE RED RIOTS IN FRANCE

THE COMMUNIST riots in Marseille, the second largest city in France, offer abundant proof that when Communists profess adherence to Democratic principles they are merely WEARING A MASK.

The city of Marseille has for some time past been ruled by a local Communist government, but in a recent election the Communists were voted out of office by a majority of the people.

This was the Democratic process, by virtue of which the Communists of Marseille had originally obtained power; and by participating in a subsequent election they risked removal from power and acknowledged the right of the people to remove them.

Under a Democratic system, such participation by political parties either in or out of power commits them to acceptance of the popular decision, for otherwise the act of participation would be insincere and sham.

THE COMMUNIST participation in the Marseille election was obviously and precisely a sham, for when the election deprived them of power by the Democratic process they promptly proceeded to SEIZE POWER BY FORCE AND VIOLENCE.

Having failed of popular endorsement at the polls, they dropped all pretense of adherence to Democratic processes and principles, organized mobs, assaulted the duly elected public officers, unlawfully occupied the City Hall and barricaded it against the police and other legally constituted authority.

That, of course, is REAL COMMUNISM IN ACTION.

The people of France have seen it many times before, having been made impotent by it before the German conquest of their country; and they are painfully aware of its present objective in France, which is to make the country impotent before the impending Russian conquest.

But it is not peculiar to France, as the whole civilized world is becoming acutely aware.

In all countries which Soviet Russia has marked for conquest, Communists are being organized and trained in the methods of force and violence for eventual seizure of power.

Let the American people not deceive themselves that American Communists are any EXCEPTION.

AMERICAN COMMUNISTS used the methods of force and violence during the period of the Stalin-Hitler military, political and economic alliance, conducting crippling strikes against the major industries then being shaped by the American government to the vital pattern of national defense—and they were so recognized and denounced by the highest military authorities of the United States, by the Department of Justice and the Federal Courts of the United States, and by the then President of the United States, Mr. Roosevelt.

It was only when the turn of world events made American Democracy suddenly USEFUL to the Communists of this country that they pretended to see any virtue in it.

It is only up to the point where Democracy CEASES to be useful to them in the fulfillment of their allegiance to Soviet Russia that they wear the mask—and that point was reached in Marseille when the Democratic decision went against them, and it will be reached in America the instant it is more profitable to turn to the methods of force and violence rather than carry on the sham of working within the structure of Democracy.

In the light of these facts, the Communist debacle in Marseille, while a great tragedy for France, provides a most enlightening object lesson in the methods and purposes of Communists everywhere, including the United States.

On the Side

It is the hour when from the boughs
The nightingale's high note is heard;
It is the hour when lovers' vows,
Seem sweet in every whispered word.

BYRON.

THE POET IS SPEAKING of twilight. In that hour, I usually have been riding home wondering why I didn't pick the winner in the eighth race. Still I didn't do so badly in the moonlight. But, anyway, note that Byron, an expert on the subject of wooing and winning, refers to the "whispered word." This is the same advice embodied in the observation of that great Horses & Women expert W. Shakespeare, namely: "Speak low, when you speak love." Keep this in mind, young fellow.

AT THE CELEBRATION of Edwin Booth's birthday in Gramercy Park, Blanche Yurka referred to the current New York theatrical situation as "a welter of ugliness and commercialism." I am growing weary of that line of affected conversation. Anyway, Mme. Yurka is talking through her chapeau. She must have moved to the country and stopped reading the newspapers. Where is the "commercialism" in such current productions as G. B. Shaw's "Man And Superman," "The Heiress," adapted from a story by Henry James, "Medea," by Robinson Jeffers, the "Winslow Boy," by Terence Rattigan, "Music In My Heart," based on the melodies of Tchaikovsky, and "Eastward In Eden," dealing with the life of the brilliant poet, Emily Dickinson?

Blanche Yurka

PLEASE NOTE: Perhaps life does not begin at forty, as Prof. Pitkin claimed, but there is ample proof that when a man reaches the age of forty he usually retains considerable vim, vigor and what not. As for example, the Hollywoodians named have all publicly admitted their ages to be as follows: William Powell, fifty-five; Charles Boyer, forty-eight; Humphrey Bogart, forty-seven; Clark Gable, forty-six; Spencer Tracy, forty-seven; Cary Grant, forty-three, Bob Hope, forty-three.

THAT DOG AGAIN: Our pup is vacationing at the famous dude ranch for dogs, Big Bear Lake, Cal. Pretty soft for him. He writes regularly. That is, we receive letters from the ranch which he would write if he could write. One follows: "Dear Folks: This ranch life is putting plenty of pep in me. Some nights it is quite chilly and I have to get out my winter red flannels. I'm a sensation up here. All the gals are out to give me the eye. An old Airdale with fallen paw-pads asked me to go steady with her but I'm not interested in those old flea-bags. Give me the young gals with the classy chassis. I have my eye on a beautiful borzer. She's real cute. Well, so long folks. Here come the eats."

HORSES & WOMEN: The hair-do experts have decided that beginning in the Spring of 1948 women of fashion will wear their hair short. This decision was arrived at during the recent meeting of the International Federation of Hairdressers in Paris. Our informant states: "Complications are bound to arise. Short hair and long skirts do not go together." Call this to the attention of your loving wife if she is switching to the long skirt. Tell her to save her short skirts so she will look all right with her stylish spring hair-do. Don't tell me you don't care what your wife wears. What are you, a millionaire? Ordinarily a husband can dismiss from his mind what his spouse wears, but nowadays he has to keep an eye on that situation. On this all members of the Husbands' Protective Ass'n are agreed.

WOMAN OF EXPERIENCE: The life and loves of Lady Sarah Lennox are dealt with in a book by Edith Roelker Curtis. Lady Lennox appears to have gone in for loving even more extensively than the heroine of "Forever Amber." However, at the age of 35, she married for the last time, settled down and became the mother of eight children. She passed on at an advanced age, a beloved and respected member of her community. Women of experience, when they finally decide to center their activities on a husband, home and children, usually make excellent matrimonial companions and mothers.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: When dance hall hostesses were paid 10 cents a dance they danced 20 dances per hour. Each dance lasted a little less than three minutes. The hostess received seven cents from the fee and the dance hall three cents . . . Remember when radio set owners were boasting about "distance" reception? Television set owners are now doing likewise. A Cheshire, England, television fan recently proved he was getting reception from London about 200 miles away.

"Oh, boy, good thing we've been warned—they probably have stones an' slingshots an' beanshooters . . . !"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—Dispatches from Hollywood state that a bureau known as the Breen Office has decreed that a biographical, documentary film on the general subject of Al Capone must not be produced.

Westbrook Pegler

The reasoning here eludes me because the same agency did not object to a biographical, documentary film on Franklin D. Roosevelt. A documentary is a film which is done with significant shots and props which suggest more than they necessarily say.

The recent documentary on Franklin D. Roosevelt was shockingly untruthful. It portrayed a man of enormous and undeviating nobility whereas all honest Americans now know, many of them to their disappointment, that Roosevelt was an outright swindler in the John Hartford fraud, that he had absolutely no preference between truth and falsehood, as such, and that he was avaricious and stingy to the point of wickedness.

Rich though he was, a millionaire and over, as all the world knows, and devoted though he was supposed to be to his faithful secretary, Missy Le Hand, he threw her onto the personal charity of Barney Baruch, Jesse Jones and a few others and might have let the poor girl go to some county hospital to die had they not intervened. If there was any decent explanation which could vindicate Roosevelt of this awful cruelty to a stricken friend, it would have been published long ago by those, such as Henry Morgenthau, who worship, wet-eyed, at the Hyde Park shrine, and Henry Wallace, who runs around, drooling like a St. Bernard and flopping his bang, like Hitler, hollering that he is the sole legatee of the Roosevelt tradition.

THE ROOSEVELT documentary, called "The Roosevelt Story," was, as I say, shockingly deceptive in that it concealed Roosevelt's wickedness and thus sought to corrupt the people's knowledge of the man and their political judgment. Quite a few persons connected with it have been observed in groups and areas regarded by the United States Congress as Communist fronts. It was much more harmful, per client, than the proposed film on Al Capone would have been. I wrote the story of the Capone film myself and I knew before I started that the moving picture industry and all its agencies would lay for it to knock it over because I was involved in the production.

The boss corruptioneers who rule our theaters from a few offices within a few miles' radius remember that I was the one who caught them in flagrant and notorious association with Willie Bioff and George Browne in mutual betrayal of all the workers in the movie industry. This was done in cooperation with the New Deal's own Department of Labor and its Labor Relations Board.

I nailed them in their guilt and a Department of Justice which had not been sold out for a few tainted campaign checks and the loot from the March of Dimes and the Birthday Balls would have indicted them and sent them to prison.

And with other reporters, I was showing up the Communists in Hollywood 10 years ago. They never have forgotten that. Now I am showing up the criminal underworld of Hollywood and that makes them wince, too.

NOW THE PEGLER story on Al Capone did not glorify Al Capone but it did uphold the integrity and authority of popular government and it did salute Herbert Hoover and the Republican administration which he led, as the heroes of the showdown which ended with Al Capone starting 10 years in prison.

Many times over all these years a lie was published to make Mr. Hoover seem mean and jealous of a gangster's popularity. This story was that he set the treasury after Capone because Capone drew the autograph-hunters away from him in the lobby of a hotel in Miami Beach. That never happened. Actually, a committee of Chicago's leading citizens did call on Mr. Hoover in the White House and implore him to rescue their city from civic and moral anarchy. He did.

Far from glorifying Al Capone, that was the true story of this authentic biographical film of American history which the Breen Office in Hollywood has barred on the pretext of sparing the public an evil influence while the Roosevelt biography is free to run where anyone will pay to see it. Herbert Hoover is still a forbidden but not a forgotten man, but Hollywood's power to boycott truth and justice and to perpetrate historical and political fraud is dying fast.

My next documentary will be an expose the like of which Hollywood never has produced in all its dirty slurs on Congress and the integrity of the American character and our government. It will show the power of the blacklist long exercised against facts, ideas and persons by men who nevertheless have the gall to testify that they don't dare fire a Communist because he might be an innocent liberal.

Prowler Beware

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, NOV. 17, 1947

Vigilant—Mrs. Ruth Scagnolia, 21, of Parker st., Hyde Park, holds air rifle she will use against prowler who has been lurking around her home. She reported to police that he has already tried to crawl in a window. A search through the neighborhood failed to apprehend the culprit. Police in that area chased six suspects who were believed to be "Peeping Toms." None were captured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17—That cute trick, Diana Lewis Powell, better known as "Mousie" to her pals and Mrs. William Powell on her charge accounts, can dry her eyes. She should worry that Ann Blyth beat her out for the mermaid role in "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid!"

Diana Powell

Bill Pine and Bill Thomas have offered Mousie a contract for two or more pictures a year starting off with the feminine lead in "Disaster" opposite Richard Denning. It's a drammer and a thriller, but after that, they would concentrate on oomphier material for her.

I can understand that. A lot of people in Hollywood think Diana has a figure comparable to Ava Gardner's or Marie McDonald's—and she's a good actress to boot.

NORMAN CORWIN, ace radio producer, director and writer, has been nabbed by Harry Cohn on an extremely interesting assignment. He will produce and adapt Robert Penn Warren's prize-winning novel, "All the King's Men."

There has been a lot of controversy about this book as to whether or not it's actually the story of Huey Long. The author says not. Robert Rossen, who did an outstanding job with "Body and Soul," will direct the Corwin production.

As for who will play the lead, Harry Cohn tells me he hasn't yet made a choice. I hope it isn't Orson Welles, as has been rumored. The self-styled genius isn't my favorite actor on screen or radio.

After Corwin finishes "All the King's Men" he will write and produce an original for my friend Cohn of Columbia.

THE COMPLEXITY of the English divorce laws has kept Mrs. Anthony Eden from obtaining her freedom. Her lawyers have studied the situation from every angle, since neither she nor the handsome British statesman wants any sort of scandal about their legal separation.

I am reliably informed she will probably go to Reno and get her divorce on grounds of desertion. She has been away from England for two years and is at present in Bermuda.

WELL, SABU is going to get married—at least, that's the rumble I get from Hollywood. He arrived there accompanied by a girl he met when he made "Black Narcissus." Her name is Brenda Julier.

He admits he is madly in love with her, but since the day the Indian boy went on a personal appearance tour with me in 1940, he has been in love many times. Sabu has been signed for Monty Shaff and Frank Rosenberg's production for Universal-International, "Man Eaters of Kumaon."

CHATTER In New York: Jennifer Jones slipped in and out of New York so quickly that not one word was printed in the newspapers until she left on the Queen Mary with other movie stars.

Jennifer goes to Switzerland, but there is no truth in the rumor that she and David Selznick had a quarrel. She will spend two months with her two sons at St. Moritz, and she has a date to spend Christmas there with David, who joins her in Switzerland.

WENT to see "The Druid Circle," which I liked very much. Met Cole Porter, Jean and Charlie Feldman, whom he joined later in the Stork Club with Fefe Ferri. It was quite a gala night there.

Pamela and James Mason were there with the John Buckmasters. I had not seen Mason since I came to town, although I had some flowers from him. He told me these stories about pictures he intends to make are all untrue, because he is unable to make any plans until the law suit which David Rose has against him is settled.

The fabulous Fanny Ward, dripping with feathers, jewels and a tiara, came in with the ever devoted Jack Dean. She looked like she was dressed for a fancy ball, and she was. She told me she had just been at a tiara ball for charity.

Adele Astaire Cavendish, who is the youngest looking woman for her age that I have ever seen, introduced me to her husband, King Douglass.

I'm sorry indeed that a misunderstanding between Busby Berkeley and a studio gateman at Warners was relayed to me as a hot story that Buz had been barred from the lot.

The truth is that Berkeley's contract has been terminated because Mike Curtiz has called off the musical sequences in "Forever and Always," but believe me, there's no hard feeling on any side.

Jack Warner says that when there are dance routines to be staged again in any Warner movie, he will be delighted to have Buz back. In the past three years, Berkeley has lived the life of a model citizen—trying to live down the unfortunate breaks of the past—and he's still up there at the top as a dance director, as everyone knows.

SNAPSHOTS of New York and Hollywood collected at random: With plaudits of "The Bishop's Wife" still ringing in his ears, Henry Koster goes to 20th-Century-Fox to direct Tyrone Power in "That Old Magic."

Lady Elsie Mendl entertained the Duchess of Windsor at tea, not a party. The Duchess, who is an old friend, stopped in to see Lady Mendl, who, as I said yesterday, hasn't been well.

Greta Garbo has been spending a lot of time in the antique shops. She met some friends and said that she had picked up a virus infection in Europe and hadn't been well since she came back to this country.

Edna Borzage admits she and Frank had a terrible row which led to the rumor that they were separating, but everything is peaches and cream again.

Margaret Hayes, once engaged to Jeffrey Lynn and later married to Lief Erickson, has been a secret bride for four weeks. She married Herbert Bayard Swope, Jr., son of the famous one-time publisher, and strictly of the social register. She has been writing on a national magazine here.

Went to the cosmopolitan monthly "Male Tested Fashion Show" where the gents pick out the dresses. I was an unofficial judge and I must say they put me to shame with their criticisms of what, to their minds, was smart and what wasn't. Dorothy Kilgallen's husband, Richard Kollmar, who was among the judges, was particularly alert. He and I had a lot of laughs.

The Archie Mayos have adopted a baby sister for their 2-year-old adopted son, Archie II. Their 4-week-old daughter has been given the unusual name J'Lene.

Maria Montez is due to arrive in New York by plane. The play Jean Pierre Aumont financed, wrote, directed and acted in, in Paris, is said to be excellent—if you can believe the reports from Paris.

Carmen Figueroa, who is living with Candy Vanderlip in a swank Park ave. apartment, gave a cocktail party and there were many familiar faces from Hollywood among them. Elyse Hunt and Rosalind Courtwright were there; also Larry Grey and Mary Louise, Carmen's sister, who are visiting here from Mexico; John Steinbeck and his wife, the Richard Gullys, Donald Nelson and his bride, and many others.

Met Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall having dinner for two at "21." Bogie tells me he is not talking politics any more, and I am glad.

DICK GRANT, THE PUBLIC RELATIONS MAN, former newspaperman and radio commentator, points out that of six Bay State governors in the last 20 years, only two, Joseph B. Ely and Leverett Saltonstall, were re-elected. Frank G. Allen, Charles F. Hurley, James M. Curley and Maurice J. Tobin had to be satisfied with but one term each. Grant claims the second year of the two-year term makes or breaks a governor, and will make or break "Bob" Bradford . . . Atty. Joseph M. McDonough sails on the Vulcania Dec. 20 for Naples to try an Army court-martial case . . . And Herb Callahan is taking Joe with him to Galveston later for a murder trial . . . Russell Goodale is still on the Cape and busy with his etching, according to Matt King. That plan to go to California was called off.

GINNY SIMMS will cut short her Oval Room engagement after Friday night's performance, instead of staying until the following Tuesday. She has been dashing off to New York every week-end for her Sunday night broadcasts, but it has been found impossible to do the broadcast right without a Saturday rehearsal . . . In her place, Stanley Melba, the Sheraton-chain entertainment director, is sending in Betty Jane Watson who worked for him a few years ago when he was entertainment chief at the Pierre in New York . . . Betty Jane was at the Pierre only three days when she got a big break. Rodgers and Hammerstein grabbed her for "Oklahoma!" She played a year in the Chicago company, two years in the New York company and some months in the London company, returning to the States last April to have a baby. She is five feet two, and a blonde . . . Next Wednesday, Dorchester's Ray Bolger bounces in on his rubber legs to take over at this supper room.

TED LEWIS told us at the Latin Quarter Saturday midnight that he is not as old as we said the other day, when we put him in his sixth decade . . . Funny thing is that Ted was able to prove it, and through no other than this columnist's missus. He named some girls with whom he went to school in Circleville, Ohio, and it turned out that the missus knows them very well. So it is a small world, after all . . . Unlike many stars, Ted has never forgotten his old home town and has given Circleville a park (Eddie Cantor and others made contributions) and is going to add a swimming-pool . . . Ted was really gracious to sit down and talk at that hour, especially as two tablefuls of Quarter patrons, right down front, made so much noise they interfered with his routine, and wouldn't be quieted. It was a mean trick on a performer of Ted Lewis' calibre—and would be on anybody, for that matter . . . The Quarter incidentally was jam-packed. You couldn't have squeezed-in The Thin Man.

DROPPING in at the Merry-Go-Round bar, Rolly Rolls, Parisian pianist of the Terrace Room, informed us his right name is Andre Renaud. Being really a concert pianist, he decided to pick another name when he got a nice contract to do a comedy routine. Because his real name is that of France's popular little car, the Renaud, he chose the name of the most famous big car, the Rolls (Royce) . . . With Rolly was George Kramer, the men's tailor, who makes the clothes for Vaughn Monroe's and other name bands. According to Kramer, a trombonist has to have plenty of give in his right shoulder, a drummer in both shoulders, while a band leader must have a coat with lots of ease but at the same time on with lots of style . . . Kramer carries the thing over into all his suit-making. When a customer comes in, he asks him what he does for a living.

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR Frank J. Keyes of the New England branch of the Veterans Administration is one of the high officials at whom the veterans organizations are shooting in their demand for a Congressional investigation . . . Keyes often has boasted about the rough verbal treatment he has given members of Congress, notably John W. McCormack and Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, in his office at 55 Tremont st. He has also clashed with Congressman John F. Kennedy . . . But he must have changed his ideas, because last Thursday he called on Congressman McCormack at the Federal Building to ask a favor . . . McCormack, who knows of Keyes' remarks about him, was very much surprised by the visit. So was Tony Tieso, Massachusetts commander of the Disabled American Veterans, who was in the outer office and saw Keyes. Nobody in Boston knows more about Civil Service regulations than Tony. He thinks both Colonel Nance, the branch head, and Keyes should be replaced.

THE EXECUTIVE committee of the Massachusetts Department, Disabled American Veterans, has sent the following resolution to all of this state's members of Congress and to Gen. Bradley, VA head:

"Whereas it is increasingly evident that the Veterans Administration on Branch level impedes the proper functioning of the Regional Office on its own level by duplication of work; and whereas officials of Branch have proved that they are too far away from the problems of the veterans to be sympathetic with their needs; and whereas Branch has never justified its existence because there are apparently too many supervisors but too little effective supervision; and whereas most of the delay in the Boston Regional Office in handling caseload and in sending out subsistence and compensation checks to veterans is directly traceable to Branch interference and work duplication; therefore be it resolved by the Department of Massachusetts, Disabled American Veterans, that a Congressional investigation of the Regional Office Branch No. 1, Veterans Administration, necessary for the welfare of veterans in this area; and be further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of Congress from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of the Veterans Administration."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17—Rep. John McDowell of Pennsylvania, who alternates with Rep. J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey as chief interrogator of the House Un-American Activities committee, is just as thorough a newspaperman as he is a Congressman.

He is owner, editor, publisher and political columnist of the Wilkinsburg (Pa.) Gazette.

During the recent Hollywood technicolor production I visited him in company with Mr. David Sentner, the illustrious political writer. We thought we were interviewing Mr. McDowell—but it has since developed he was interviewing us.

He has just come out with this almost stenographic report in his column "The Country Editor in Washington":

"The two arrived before I did and shortly thereafter arrived a reporter from one of those curious little 'liberal' weeklies in Manhattan who, by some strange twist of precedence, thinks I am a fair Congressman.

"I blew in, and thinking they were all together, I waved the three into my private cubbyhole. They all sat on my big, black bench, I in my desk chair, and, remembering the immortal words of the noted Charles Chaplin, I offered, 'Gentlemen, begin the Witch hunt.'

"Our liberal friend said to Mr. Sentner, want to watch the great man work and see how he gets all that dough.' (He was ribbing Dixon.)

"Mr. Sentner murmured, 'Think of that.'

"Mr. Dixon was busy admiring a photograph of Calvin Coolidge.

"It should be pointed out here that Mr. George Dixon is somewhat allergic to liberals, left-wingers, fellow-travelers, Communists and Trotski-ites.

"The liberal said, 'Now if I were a Congressman here is what I would do . . .'

"Mr. Dixon said, 'Who cares?'

"The liberal, 'Anyway, if I were a . . .'

"The liberal and Mr. Dixon and Mr. Sentner then engaged in some professional chit-chat while I slid my chair back a foot or so to be out of range in case any one of them drew a blackjack.

"Finally Mr. Dixon, smiling sweetly at the liberal, suggested in the suave, famous subtle Dixon fashion: 'Why the hell don't you get out of here and let me go to work?'

"THE LIBERAL retorted something or other, and the great George said, with even less kindness, 'Look, chump, scram.'

"Mr. Dixon even pointed to the door.

"Mr. Sentner, at this point, arose and leaned on the liberal.

"It should also be noted that Mr. Sentner is a man of much footage and all of the necessary foundation to hold up all of that weight with safety to himself and the public, and when Mr. Sentner leans on anybody, either mentally or physically, something is going to yield and it usually is not Mr. Sentner.

"So Mr. Dixon and I got down to whales and fleas and running a one-horse newspaper.

(Dixon's note: At this point Mr. McDowell goes into gory details of my lapse at one of the hearings when a committee-batting Hollywoodite got me so irked I found myself yelling: "Take him out and beat his brains in!" But we will skip this as not for the kiddies.)

"Mr. Dixon and Dave Sentner and even my liberal writer friend are pretty nice folks and I am glad I know them—all of them. This 'piece' might make them angry or embarrass them, but think of your Congressman—people from Moosejaw, Me., to El Cavavaro, Calif., are going to know about that danged whale."

NOTE to Mr. McDowell: Are you kidding about us being angry or embarrassed? We hate publicity like Sen. Taylor.

Ninth District Votes Tomorrow

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 17 (AP) —A quiet campaign wound up today for tomorrow's special election of a U. S. representative in the Ninth Massachusetts District.

The candidates in this district, which always has been represented by a Republican, are Donald W. Nicholson (R.) of Wareham, and [illegible].

The seat was vacated by the death last August of Charles L. Gifford, who was a member of Congress for 25 years.

Vagrant, $1000 In Bank, Sentenced

The 13th vagrant to shuffle morosely before Judge Davis B. Keniston today was a cut above the 12 disheveled human derelicts who passed before him to one-month sentences in the House of Correction, which they silently took or mumblingly appealed.

They were possessed of a few pennies at most, two razors, two extra pairs of socks and a single bar of soap among them. But in the raveled pocket of Norman H. Bragdon, who gave a Maine address, was a bank book showing deposits totaling $1000 and no withdrawals since last March.

He had no good reason for vagrancy, he intimated, but the probation officer had a record of him that gave Judge Keniston reason to send hi mto the State Farm for nine months.

Acts AT ONCE to Relieve

NIGHT BRONCHIAL COUGHING

(CAUSED BY COLDS)

When you lie awake nights—tortured by such a mean cough—try PERTUSSIN. The first spoonfuls must relieve such coughing or your money will be refunded.

For years thousands of Doctors prescribed PERTUSSIN. It acts at once. PERTUSSIN not only relieves coughing but actually helps 'loosen' thick phlegm and makes it easier to 'raise'.

PERTUSSIN(R) is safe and mighty effective for both old and young Pleasant tasting. Inexpensive!

Car Held for Tests In Hit-Run Death

A Braintree car suspected of being the hit-run vehicle that crushed pretty Eleanor M. O'Brien, 19, Burns ave., Quincy, to death a few seconds after she had been struck by another car was at Quincy police headquarters today awaiting close examination by Dr. Joseph T. Walker, State Police chemist.

The fatal accident occurred Friday evening in Quincy ave., Quincy, while she was being escorted home from a mission in St. John's Church, School st., by Vincent Villard, 20 Lonsdale st., Dorchester. He suffered a compound fracture of the left leg and was lying helpless in the street when the second car passed over Miss O'Brien.

The operator of the car being held for examination is a young Braintree man who was questioned by Quincy police Saturday night and released. Dr. Walker will look for strands from the clothing of the dead girl and skin tissue.

A butterfly brooch from her dress and a shoulder pad from her coat were found about 100 feet from her body at a point where the death car allegedly stopped before speeding away from the scene.

Suspended Lynn Cop's Troubles Mount

Patrolman George Jaquith, Lynn, suspended Saturday as he was going off duty, got another jolt early today when his car was involved in a collision as he backed it out of the driveway of his home in Lynnfield st.

Irving Robinson, 34, Burrill st., Swampscott, operator of the other car, suffered a broken arm and was taken to Lynn Hospital. He is under police guard, charged with operating under the influence. Jaquith, his wife, Alice, William Wadowski, Cottage st., and May Scannell, Boston st., who were in the Jaquith car, all were treated for injuries.

IRAQ U. S. ENVOY QUITS

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 17 (AP)—An official source said today Ali Jawdat Al Ayubi, Iraq ambassador to Washington, had resigned. The only reason given was "the ambassador's health and need of a rest."

J. A. SUMMERS* SWITCHED TO CALVERT

A WELL-LIKED sales representative, Mr. Summers knows the value of friendliness—both in business—and in whiskey. "I switched to Calvert," he says, "because it's friendlier-tasting—milder in flavor, lighter in body."

AN ARDENT GOLFER, he has a standing order at the "19th hole"—for "one light highball made with Calvert." He explains, "I'm for moderation—and I'm for Calvert. Glad I found this agreeably smoother brand."

Isn't it time you switched to Calvert—the more congenial-tasting whiskey? Calvert's good manners come from greater experience in blending mellowness, smoothness, flavor. We believe it's unmatched at anywhere near the price!

Philbin Says Red U. S. Invasion On

While Communist activity is intense in several troubled European nations, "the most dangerous Communist infiltration of all is in the United States."

This was the warning delivered at a banquet of Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus by Cong. Philip J. Philbin of Clinton, who urged a union of all God-fearing and peace-loving Christians in this country to halt the Communist offensive.

Recently returned from a visit to Europe, he said he found "seething cauldrons of desperate Communist activity" in several countries and "privation and left-wing conspiracies" everywhere.

Jewish State's Needs Set at $3,000,000,000

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (INS)—Robert R. Nathan, former government economist, declared the projected Jewish state in Palestine will require $3,000,000,000 "in private and corporate investments during the next decade."

He predicted "Jewish Palestine will develop into an industrial exported and agricultural importer since the 6000 square miles in the proposed Jewish state obviously cannot otherwise support 2,000,000 people."

If You Need

A LAXATIVE

when you have a

COLD—

It's important, when you have a cold, to keep your bowels open. Don't add to your troubles with harsh, upsetting laxatives. If you or your children need a laxative, take easy-acting Ex-Lax—the laxative that many doctors use in their practice.

Ex-Lax gets results gently. You can depend on Ex-Lax for thorough relief because it is biologically tested to assure effective action. Ex-Lax really tastes good—just like delicious chocolate! Always keep a box of Ex-Lax handy! Still only 10¢.

Men Who Get Up Nights Often Lose Their Pep

If you have to get up 2 or more times a night, your rest is broken and you may feel old and run-down before your time. So if you Get Up Nights or suffer from Bladder Weakness, Painful Passages, Backache, Leg Pains, Nervousness, Rheumatic Pains, Circles Under Eyes, or Swollen Ankles, due to non-organic and non-systemic Kidney and Bladder Troubles, you should try Cystex.

This great medicine, a doctor's formula, has helped thousands of sufferers for over 30 years. Usually the very first dose of Cystex starts to work immediately to help you in these three ways: 1. Helps nature remove irritating excess acids, poisonous wastes and certain germs. 2. This cleansing action helps nature alleviate many pains, aches, soreness and stiffness. 3. Helps reduce frequent night and day calls, thus promoting better sleep.

Get Cystex from your druggist today. Give it a fair trial as directed on package. Money back guaranteed unless Cystex satisfies you.

Wife of Musical Aide To Miss Truman Killed

TEXARKANA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Mrs. L. M. Knowland, about 45, of Kansas City, wife of a flutist accompanist for Margaret Truman, was killed in a highway mishap near Ashdown, Ark., about 25 miles north of Texarkana.

An automobile driven by her husband struck a horse on highway 71 as they were en route to Shreveport where Miss Truman sang last night.

Parents Ask Hunt For Girl Eloper

New England police were asked today to locate a young Wellesley girl in time to nip her bridal plans as disclosed in an elopement note left to her parents, according to police.

June Hayward, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Huntress Hayward, on Friday evening departed from the family residence in Kipling rd., in the fashionable Longfellow Estate section of Wellesley Hills.

Her parents reported her missing 24 hours later and said she might be in the company of a youth whose age, address and description were not given the police.

Beauty Balm That's Really Divine

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WHEN THE accompanying photograph reached our desk the other day . . . we couldn't resist the impulse to use it . . . despite the fact it depicts a model pondering seriously over her selection of Rustcraft Christmas cards . . . and trying oh so hard to decide whether it should be the enchanting series from Marjorie Cooper's brush or the exquisite French etching group.

For it immediately set up a parallel in our mind . . . a beauty analogy, as you can well imagine. If you have shopped for Yuletide cards . . . you know full well there is a new look to them as to all things and all women this season. They've changed considerably from the holiday greeting cards of yesteryear.

Now a woman expresses her own personality in the Christmas cards she sends. If she is angelic and Christmas makes her feel like a starry-eyed child with thoughts of sleigh-bells and laughter and presents with big red bows . . . the Rustcraft cherub cards will be her "Merry Christmas" how-do-you-do.

But if she is sophisticated . . . the type who plans a beautiful party at Christmas time with gleaming candlesticks and fragrant eggnog in a crystal bowl . . . then she'll choose the splendid Rustcraft reproductions of fine French etchings to convey her personal holiday message.

BEAUTY BALM IN FOUR SHADES

There's a new psychology in Christmas cards, we're told. And if you'd like to play a game . . . study the cards you receive and see if they don't tell you the things you, perhaps, already know about the sender's personal whims and fancies.

Well, if cards are the expression medium of a feminine personality . . . what, pray tell, should the facial cast of countenance establish, direct or indirect? Christmas comes but once a year . . . but we must show our face every day of our lives. Why not try to live up to the kind of holiday greeting we dispatch to friends and relatives?

The facial look we endorse is the prototype of the personality we try to project. It is either angelic or sophisticated . . . ingenue or continental . . . natural or dramatic. We women brush-paint a personal Christmas card greeting every day in the way we look . . . the way we dress. The canvas, of course, is the complexion.

There's a famous-name beauty balm that can be the facial ally to help a gal get across this complexion message. It comes in four shades. It smooths quickly, easily, affectionately over the skin. It seeps into the facial tissues almost instantly to mix with the natural skintone and to give tone to the skin. Neither greasy nor sticky and an unusual formula . . . It establishes a velvet affinity for face powder. It helps produce a perfectly grand natural, lovely beauty for the skin. Besides enhancing it . . . it is good for the skin.

For the name of this divine facial look beauty balm, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston American inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CHRISTMAS cards and a woman's facial expression have suddenly developed a new-found relationship. Both should express the individual's personality. In choosing her Rustcraft-designed holiday greeting cards . . . the model, for the sake of illustration, is trying to decide whether she is angelic or sophisticated so her selection may be an accurate appraisal of her type. And a beauty balm is the domestic counterpart of the facial personality.

CHAINS and links . . . in new versions of the past, with a look of heirloom preciousness about them . . . keep gold jewelry right up on top of the fashion ladder. This golden, multi-strand necklace . . . caught up with a plumed pin . . . is rightly named "Elegance" by Monet, its creators . . . and could be a truly elegant accessory for any ensemble. The golden plumed earrings . . . matching the pin . . . add that proud as a peacock feeling. The high and low arrangement of the necklace is a spring indication.—R. M.

Tasteful, Economical

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

MOST HOMEMAKERS are keeping close watch on the food budget and are using their ingenuity to prepare good tasting, nutritious meals economically.

Since milk is nature's most nearly perfect food, it goes without saying that a liberal amount should be included in menus. A well-seasoned cream sauce made with milk and combined with other foods is one important way of adding more milk to meals and also of extending more expensive protein foods.

Smaller amounts of meat, fish, poultry, or eggs, may be extended with a cream sauce and vegetables. Rice and noodle rings make the perfect accompaniment for such tasty mixtures. Here is one combination that the whole family can enjoy.

CREAMED VEAL AND VEGETABLES IN PARSLEY NOODLE RING

¼ tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 tsp. salt
Few grains of pepper
2 cups diced cooked veal
1 cup diced cooked celery
1 cup cooked peas
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. thyme (optional)
½ cup minced parsley
4 cups cooked noodles

Melt 4 tablespoons butter or margarine in a saucepan; blend in flour; gradually add milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick. Add salt and pepper. Cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add veal, celery and peas. Season more if necessary. Combine 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, thyme and parsley; add to hot noodles; mix well. Press into oiled ring mold. Unmold on hot serving plate; fill center with veal mixture. Garnish with parsley. Makes 8 servings.

CREAMED EGGS A LA KING

2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 tbsp. minced onion
3 tbsp. flour 2 cups milk
½ tsp. salt Few grains pepper
1 tbsp. minced parsley
6 shelled hard-cooked eggs
6 slices toast
1 cup sauteed sliced fresh mushroom
½ cup cooked or canned peas
1 canned pimiento in strips

Melt the butter or margarine in the top of a double boiler over direct heat. Add the onion and simmer until tender. Then stir in the flour and next the milk, salt, pepper and parsley. Cook over boiling water while stirring, until smooth and thickened. Then add the hard-cooked eggs, cut in slices, quarters, or eighths; mushrooms, peas and pimiento. Heat and serve on toast in patty shells, in croustades, or with boiled white rice. Makes 6 servings.

CREAMED CHICKEN

5 tbsps. chicken fat, margarine or butter
¼ tbsps. flour ⅝ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper ⅛ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. celery salt
1 cup chicken stock
1 cup milk
½ cup thick cream
2 cups diced cooked or canned chicken
1 tsp. paprika, or 1 pimiento, cut in strips
2 tbsp. minced parsley

Melt fat, stir in flour, salt, pepper, nutmeg, and celery salt, and when well blended, slowly add chicken stock, milk, and cream, stirring constantly over low heat until mixture thickens and boils. Add chicken and blend well. Reheat. Serve on toast, in croustades or patty shells, or on split baking powder biscuits. Sprinkle with paprika or pimiento and minced parsley. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If canned chicken is used, the chicken stock may be replaced by an equal amount of milk.

PERSONALITY GUIDE

If you stop, look, listen . . . and study . . . people who are popular, genuinely liked by other people, you will always find that they are considerate, inevitably, generously considerate, of the happiness and the comfort of those with whom they come in contact.

In No Hurry to Re-Wed

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I have been deeply in love with a man for nine years. When I first got acquainted with him, he was married and had no children. He told me he loved me very much, but I did not bother with him except for talking with him when I met him going to and from my work, but he said if anything ever happened to his wife he would want to marry me.

Well, his wife did pass away over two years ago now, and I have been keeping company with him since then. He says now that he loves only me but that he doesn't want to get married. He goes with no one else. I am 40 years old and single.

"CONFUSED WOMAN."

DEAR "CONFUSED:"

It sounds to me as though this man, having had a taste of bachelor life, is in no hurry to take on the responsibility of a wife again. It is not at all unusual to find a man who is quite satisfied with the single life, particularly if he has a woman friend who is content to be a "platonic companion" to him.

There is always the chance, of course, that if this man gets the idea he may lose you entirely, unless he changes his ideas, it may start him thinking more favorably of a second marriage. You might consider the possibility of declining some of his invitations for a companionable evening and see how he reacts.

Makes Two Coats

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

NOW the fashion designers give us conundrums. They make the game easy; they ask the question, answer it themselves and to keep everyone happy, give us the proof.

The question for today is: "When is a fur coat not a fur coat?" Answer: "When it's reversed herewith in the burgundy broadcloth "wrap and clutch" greatcoat that, when turned inside out, is a spectacular wrap of newly-fashionable red fox furs.

Esther Dorothy designed the coat. The long skins sweep from neck to knee in an uninterrupted line that pegs in slightly at the hem. The loose, wide-flared sleeves repeat this line. The coat is collarless. The skins are worked in sombre effect so that the richness of their reddish color is emphasized. The coat is fully (and smoothly) lined in burgundy broadcloth. When the coat is worn inside out, the fur shows in full-length tuxedo lapels and is glimpsed again at the hem and the wrists.

Brother of DeGaulle Heads Paris City Council, Reds Out

PARIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—Twenty-Five Communist members walked out of the City Council tonight after it elected Pierre De Baulle to its presidency. The Communists said they would not work with "Vichy-ites."

This action came amid these other developments in the French political crisis:

1—Soviet Ambassador Bogomolov made "vigorous protest" to the government against a raid on a Soviet repatriation camp, from which French police removed a mother and three children.

2—Former Premier Reynard, considering formation of a new government, went to see Leon Blum, friends said, after talks with the present premier, Paul Ramadier.

3—A strike of 30,000 coal miners was added to the dock and transportation strike which has crippled Marseille, France's second city. A millers' strike closed some bakeries.

Beth's Bridal Broadcast Set; Opens at 6 A.M., Boston Time

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (INS)—Arrangements for the broadcast of Princess Elizabeth's marriage to Lt. Philip Mountbatten are completed.

At 11 a. m., London time 6 a. m. E.S.T.), when the royal family leaves Buckingham Palace, Frederick Oppen of ABC will begin to describe the scene.

Midway in the procession, the mike will be switched to Howard Smith of CBS. As the bridal carriage draws up to Westminster Abbey, Merrill Mueller of NBC will be waiting to tell the American listening audience what is happening.

Finally, inside, at precisely 11:30 as Princess Elizabeth walks down the aisle, Arthur Mann of MBS and Ed Murrow of CBS, stationed in a small booth, will describe the marriage ceremony.

In hopes of catching at least a whisper of the bride's and groom's voices, Mann and Murrow will carry their mikes as close as possible. No microphone is allowed at the altar.

Afterward, the broadcasters will follow the princess and her husband along the path of the recessional.

The whole broadcast will last two hours. ABC, CBS and NBC will carry the full two-hour broadcast. Mutual is transcribing the event and will rebroadcast portions of it throughout the day.

5 Boys Steal Safe In Baby Carriage

HOLYOKE, Nov. 17—A well organized gang of five juveniles, from 13 to 15 years, today confessed to the theft of a 300-pound postal substation safe and told police how they trundled it away in a stolen baby carriage.

The safe, containing $107 in cash and nearly $1400 in stamps, war bonds and postal money orders, was stolen on Nov. 9. Last night three of the youthful thieves were arrested in connection with a purse snatching and during the questioning confessed to the safe theft. They also involved two other boys who were arrested early today.

The leader of the gang wrote out instructions for each member of the gang. The instructions were memorized and the papers then burned, police said.

The boys are being questioned in connection with more than a dozen handbag snatchings which have occurred during the past two week. They will be arraigned in juvenile court on Wednesday.

Bellino Held In $25,000 Bail

Joseph A. "Happy Joe" Bellino, 38, of Newark, N. J., suspect in the $110,000 Sturtevant plant payroll holdup last Oct. 30, was ordered held in $35,000 by Judge George C. Sweeney in Federal court today on an indictment charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Bellino, arrested by FBI agents in Newark last Nov. 8, was brought here Saturday by New Jersey deputy marshals and spent the week end in the Charles st jail.

He was unrepresented by counsel at his arraignment today and Judge Sweeney ordered a plea of not guilty to be entered. He said that Bellino, when he obtained counsel, would be given 10 days for filing special pleas.

Although U S Atty. William T McCarthy would not comment, there was a possibility Bellino would be turned over to Boston police. A warrant charging him with armed robbery in the Sturtevant holdup has been obtained by Boston police.

Hunt Broken Ship's Crew On Newfoundland Shore

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 17 (AP) —A search party hunted around Pistolet Bay in northern Newfoundland through wind and rain today for the crew members of the abandoned British freighter Langleecrag.

The survivors of the 4909-ton ship were believed to be huddled somewhere on the northeast shore. Grounded on the rocks in the early morning mists Saturday, the freighter has broken in two and was being pounded to pieces.

Ship Steward Admits Tossing Actress In Sea

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Nov. 17 (AP)—Police said today a ship steward had confessed he tossed a London actress, Eileen Gay Gibson, into the sea after a rendezvous in her cabin.

"I am fairly certain that at the time she was dead," said the statement of steward James Camb, as announced by police, "but I was terribly frightened."

Camb, 31, was arraigned on a murder charge in the death of Miss Gibson, 21. The prosecution said she resisted attack and charged he pushed her through a porthole of the Durban Castle, cruising off Africa, Oct. 18. Camb's statement said she had consented to intimacy.

"She suddenly clutched me, foaming at the mouth," the statement said. "She was very still. I felt [illegible] and could not find any. I tried artificial respiration. After a struggle with the limp body, I managed to lift her to the porthole and pushed her through."

McLean of Bears Sued by Wife

Mrs. Elizabeth McLean, Lynn, today sought the extreme martial penalty against her husband, Ray McLean, 32-year-old scatback for the Chicago Bears, for unnecessary roughness.

In Salem probate court, where she sought a divorce on grounds of cruelty, Mrs. McLean testified he made one pass too many at her. "During terrible arguments," she said, McLean punched her repeatedly, broke her ear drum, twisted here arm and tried to choke her.

The couple was married in Chicago in 1940 and has no children. McLean, one of St. Anselm's brightest stars, was once football coach at Woburn High School. He did not contest the petition, taken under advisement by Judge John V. Phelan.

Fire Prevention Groups To Meet Here Nov. 19

Nicholson, Diniz Vie for Congress Tomorrow

Voters in the Ninth Congressional District, embracing the South Shore, Cape Cod, New Bedford and Ward 6 in Fall River, will go to the polls tomorrow at a special election to choose a Congressman to succeed the late Charles L. Gifford of Cotuit.

Senate President Donald W. Nicholson of Wareham, the Republican nominee, is opposed by Democratic Rep. Jacinto F. Diniz of New Bedford.

FINNS DENY SOVIET PACT

HELSINKI (INS)—The Finnish foreign office said that, contrary to reports, no mutual defense agreement has been concluded between Russia and Finland. The report stemmed from a recent visit of a Finnish delegation to Moscow.

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by IZZY ORT

Gadder aroun' children while I, Ort, suddenly grown older in wisdom an' common sense, (he hopes!) gives out wid the futility of foolin' aroun' wid hosses an' anyone wat thinks he knows hosses! Last Wednesday I wuz settin' in my Grille, mindin' my own handicappin' wen Nick, my bartender, whispers in my ear he got's a famous tout wid him. (A tout is a guy who knows less than you do about hosses—fer money yet!) We wuz introduced. I didn't wanna go ta Rockin'ham but I wuz touted inta goin'. I wanted ta go by train an' I was touted inta drivin' there. Puttin' on the feed bag, I wanted roast beef; dis guy touts me inta beef stew! T'rou the pourin' rain the nags come out an' I, casual-like pick the winner but dis guy touts me inta a loser! Den the snow came an' we went! De moral is an' I don't know why I gotta make a issue of it—is jest like Super Suds says; "Grime doesn't pay!" If ennybody walks up ta me ta talk about hosses an's even opens his mouth, unless of course he's got a SURE thing, I'm hittin' him over the noggin' wid my old two buck tickets! Wid the winter winds beginnin' ta howl, fun an' laffs is gettin' better here so hustle in an' discover why the gayest, gay afternoon an' night spot in town is Ort's Grille, 25 Essex St., Boston, Mass. Advt.

Benefit Sales

AFTER RISING BRIGHT and early Thursday morning to listen to the broadcast of Princess Elizabeth's wedding, many socialites will get a head start on their Christmas shopping by attending the Farm and Garden sale. The affair takes place Nov. 20 from 10 to 5 at the home of Mrs. Clement Houghton, 152 Suffolk rd., Chestnut Hill.

Proceeds will aid the New England Farm and Garden Association which provides scholarships at agricultural college for deserving young women in rural areas. Most wives and mothers find shopping for Dad a problem so it is good news that there will be a variety of presents for the man of the house. Also children's gifts, painted window boxes, hand knitted garments and brocaded cases for needlepoint enthusiasts.

Workers assisting Mrs. Houghton during the day will include Mrs. Hamilton W. Baker, Mrs. William Andres, Mrs. James Mott Hallowell, Mrs. Carroll Dwight, Mrs. Georgg Frost, Mrs. Edward V. Huntington, Mrs. Lawrence H. Hansel, Mrs. Louis B. McCarthy, Mrs. Elwyn Preston, Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf, Mrs. Charles F. Rowley, Mrs. John P. Ramsey, Mrs. Frank M. Sawtell, Mrs. W. Philip Tobey, Mrs. Morrill Wiggin, Mrs. Henry K. White and Mrs. Ralph B. Williams.

ANOTHER pre-holiday sale where one can pick out gifts leisurely and also aid a worthy cause is the Animal Rescue Rescue League's 45th annual bazaar today and tomorrow at the Copley Plaza. In addition to many tables of gift attractions there will be interesting educational exhibits of the Rescue League's work with animals.

Among the many fair workers are Mrs. Herbert D. Swift, Mrs. Arthur Melcher and Miss Edith Leach on the candy table; Mrs. Charles W. Phinney, Mrs. George Cushing, Mrs. James R. Hammond, Mrs. Charles Russell, and the Misses Katherine and Helen Carlin, cakes.

Mrs. Geoffrey G. Whitney, of Milton, who annually contributes a wealth of flowers and vegetables from her own estate to the Animal Rescue League fair, is in charge of the garden products table, assisted by Mrs. Hollis Webster, Mrs. Sherman K. Hardy, Mrs. John H. Cunningham, Jr., Mrs. David P. Barnett, Mrs. Rutherford Bingham, Mrs. Edward H. Fenno, Mrs. Paul Killiam, Mrs. Michael Ouspensky, and Mrs. Edward Pendergast.

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: It will soon be moving day for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. Percival (Betty Carpenter) of Swampscott, who have bought a house on Warren st., Brookline, and hope to be settled in their new home before Christmas.

Mrs. Henderson Inches of Chestnut Hill has taken a house for the winter at Nassau and will be joined by her sister, Mrs. John Rousmaniere of New York.

MRS. RUTHERFORD BINGHAM
Aids Animal League Benefits

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Leydet, whose social register address is Cambridge, are so fond of life at their large estate at Osterville they are spending a long season there. Their debutante daughter, Beatrice, is staying at the Vendome with Mrs. Frederick S. Whitwell, a close family friend. She will make her debut the night before Thanksgiving at a formal dinner given by her parents at the Chilton Club.

Store Burglars Take Cigarets, Ham, $225

Theft of $225 in cash, 20 cartons of cigarets and a 16-pound ham from his store in Ferry st., Everett, was reported to police by Louis Zaks of Maverick st., Chelsea.

The skylight was forced, and on the roof were found a small hatchet and a pocket knife.

Tiomkin to Compose Score for Filmusical

Dimitri Tiomkin has been signed by producer Stanley Kramer to create an original musical score for the Henry Morgan starrer, "So This Is New York," which Screen Plays, Inc., is making for Enterprise. Choice of Tiomkin to score the Ring Lardner story was based on his former association with Kramer on "Moon and Sizpence," besides the musician's more recent work on such pictures as "Duel in the Sun," "The Long Night" and "It's a Wonderful Life."

CALHERN TO STAR

Louis Calhern will star in "The Survivors," the new play by Peter Viertel and Irwin Shaw. The Bernard Hart-Martin Gabel production will soon go into rehearsal.

Dario's Request Opening Salvo In N. E. Race War

By JACK CONWAY

RACING'S DOVE of peace was splattered with buckshot and the 1948 clash of rival New England tracks got off to an unexpected early start with the announcement by B. A. Dario, general manager of Lincoln Downs, that his organization had requested the Rhode Island Racing Commission to award it 92 days of racing next year. Lincoln Downs is eager to stage its spring meeting from March 27 through May 8, which would give it 37 days of racing, while it has requested a late Summer and Fall meeting beginning on Aug. 21 and going through Oct. 23. This session would include 55 days of racing, making the total for the season 92 days.

Dario filed his application for dates following a conference at Lincoln Downs last Saturday with Judge John Pappas, chairman of the board of Suffolk Downs, who was accompanied to the Rhode Island track by Earl Gibson, mutuel manager at the East Boston plant, and Frank Ryan, publicity director. Earlier in the week Pres. Allan Wilson of Suffolk Downs had visited with Dario.

Dario had submitted his peace terms to rival New England tracks. He asked for 30 days of Spring or Summer racing without conflicts, and 30 days of Fall racing in which his track would compete against Rockingham Park. Dario felt that his $3,000,000 track, the most modern racing plant in New England, was entitled to full consideration with Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park.

Before the Dario announcement on dates it was hoped that a peace plan could be worked out by the four New England major tracks.

Dario to Stand Pat on Date Demands

UNDER THE RHODE ISLAND law, the Racing Commission must decide by Feb. 15 what dates it intends to grant. Dario stated today he would accept without protest the decision of the Commission.

Pres. James E. Dooley of Narragansett Park has not made any date applications. Narragansett is left May 30, July 4, Oct. 12 and Nov. 11, all holidays. Narragansett Park would be placed in a position of opening its spring meeting on May 10 and operating into late August with Suffolk Downs as likely opposition.

Now that Dario has filed his application for dates, it is unlikely that any action taken by the other three tracks at Chicago will cause him to change his course.

The move by Lincoln Downs probably means Suffolk Downs will ask for the 90 days of racing that Chairman Harry Allen of the Racing Commission says they will be given, if there is a war between the New England tracks.

Weber Has Skill, Brady a Natural Fighter

JACKIE WEBER of Pawtucket, R. I., New England lightweight champion, has boxing skill, ring class and a sharp punch which is why he will have the full backing of Rhode Island supporters when he clashes with Dennis Patrick Brady in a ten-round bout at the Garden tonight. Brady is a two-fisted, natural fighter, and he will try to catch up with Weber with some of his heavy punches. On paper, it looks as if it should be a red hot ring quarrel.

James A. Doucette, publicity director at Brewster Academy calls attention to the large number of Greater Boston youngsters who have made good playing football at the New Hampshire school. Doucette's letter in part follows:

"Standouts this fall on the Brewster team have been Jack Bowes and Mel Massucco. Both are former Mass. All-Scholastics. Bowes at Boston English, and Massucco of Arlington. They're both halfbacks, and between them they've accounted for all but one of our scores this fall. Both boys were outstanding athletes in Greater Boston circles, starring in three sports. Coaches at Dartmouth and the U. of N. H. were greatly impressed by the hard play of both of these men.

"Operating in the same backfield is Harry Hayes of Brighton, a 212-pound fullback, and the fastest man on the team. Harry enlisted in the Marines early in his high school career, so all of his previous football was played in the service. A hard man to stop, Hayes is a threat every time he carries he ball.

"Directing the attack from the T is diminutive Al McCaffrey, of Rindge Tech. A hockey player more than a football player at Rindge, 145 pound McCaffrey is the spark that keeps the Brewster offense rolling.

"The line is definitely Greater Boston in make-up, with the following boys and their former high schools: End Ed McQuillan, Co-Captain, of Lynn English; Tackle Mario Rosati, Wakefield High; Guard George McInnis, Waltham High; Center Bill Toomey, Dorchester; Guard Nandy Barsanti, Co-Captain, of Wakefield High; Tackle Al Hannoosh, Lynn English, and End Paul Wheeler, Wakefield High.

"Standouts are the guards. George McInnis, former All-Scholastic at Waltham, and Nandy Barsanti, All-Scholastic at Wakefield before matriculating at Brewster last fall and starring for last year's champs. At 200 pounds these boys are capable flankers for Center Bill Toomey, whose specialty is line backing on defense.

"At the tackles, the baby of the team is Al Hanoosh, 240-pounder, who played for last year's great Lynn English team under Carl Palombo. Mario Rosati, a 195-pounder, has been a fifth man in opposing backfields all year.

"In McQuillan and Wheeler, Bartnick has two of the finest ends in NIT prep schools. McQuillan specializes on defense. Wheeler is a pass catching offensive player. At 175 and 210, these boys close out the starting line average at around 200 pounds.

"Backing up this line, we have Hugh Regan, a 170-pound center, a teammate of Massucco at Arlington High a few years ago. Dick Crombie, a 160-pounder, last year's Lynn Classcial captain, whose team defeated Granby High, fills in at guard more than capably."

Commission Holds Up Fox-La Motta Purses

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—Edward Eagan, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, said today he was holding up the purses of both Jake LaMotta of New York and Billy Fox of Philadelphia due to newspaper stories written about their Nov. 14 bout at Madison Square Garden.

In a statement to the press, Commr. Eagan said:

"The New York State Athletic Commission is withholding payment of the purses in the main event at Madison Square Garden on Nov. 14 due to newspaper stories written about the contest between Jake LaMotta and Billy Fox.

"At present there is no legal evidence that the contest was not honestly fought by both boxers to the best of their ability. The commission will investigate the circumstances and make its determination after such investigation."

LaMotta, who never had been knocked off his feet in 79 fights, was knocked out—on his feet—by Fox Friday night when Referee Frank Fullan stopped the bout after 2:26 of the fourth round.

Although he had not been floored, MaMotta made no gesture of protest. He was staggering, and Fox was trying to measure him when Fullam stopped the battle.

Considerable comment centered around the shift in the betting odds shortly before the fight. Lamotta had been a 6 to 5 favorite, but it was understood that a rush of Fox money made him to 12 to 5 choice and finally resulted in a shutdown of all betting.

Eagan refused to elaborate on his statement other than to say that the investigation would be conducted "as soon as possible." He did indicate that only the athletic commission, and not the district attorney's office, would be concerned.

Harry Marksson, publicity director for the Twentieth Century Sporting Club which promoted the fight before a sellout crowd of 18,340 who paid $102,528, said the purse for each man was "roughly $23,000."

LaMotta did not fight the kind of fight the fans have come to expect of him execept for the first round. However, there have been indications that he had been "going back" in his recent starts. He lost to Cecil Hudson at Chicago in early September.

A middleweight who has weighed as low as 157 within a year, LaMotta weighed 167 for the fight with Fox, a heavyweight who scaled 173¾ pounds.

When the news of the big jump in odds buzzed around town, Eagan visited the dressing rooms, warned the fighters of rumors of a "fix" and told them he wanted a good fight.

The last major investigation by the New York commission resulted in the revokation of Middleweight Rocky Graziano's license to box in the state. This drastic action was taken last Ferbuary after Graziano admitted he was offered a $100,000 bribe to throw a fight with Cowboy Reuben Shank which never came off.

Grazziano said that he considered the offer "a joke," and didn't know who had made the proposition."

The Shank-Graziano fight, scheduled for Dec. 27 in Madison Square Garden, was called off Dec. 24 after Graziano reported to the commission that he had suffered a back injury in training.

Crusaders Use Rams As Tuneup for B. C.

WORCESTER, Nov. 17 (INS)—Holy Cross Coach John Dagrosa scheduled today a week of stiff workouts for his Crusaders as they prepare to meet Fordham on Fitton Field Saturday.

Dagrosa believes a win over Fordham, which has won only one game this season, will put his players in the proper frame of mind for the tilt with Boston College.

Yanks Center Out of Danger

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Joe Domnanovoich, first-string center of the Boston Yanks, who received a severe neck sprain when injured early in the first quarter of the National Football League game with the Philadelphia Eagles yesterday at Shibe Park, was reported resting comfortably at the Temple University Hospital today.

A physician said X-rays disclosed no fracture but added that an examination showed "considerable concussion to the neck area." The player's condition is "not serious," he added.

Domnanovoich was hurt on the 10th play of the game while making a tackle on a punt return by an Eagle back and was carried from the field. The Eagles won the game, 32 to 0.

B's Get Rid of Bad Game; Leafs Here Wednesday

By BILL GRIMES

Playing a listless brand of hockey, the Bruins went down to another defeat, 3-2, at the hands of the Detroit Red Wings last night at the Garden in the presence of the usual 13,900 satellites.

"Beppo" Guidolin, who was traded to Detroit for Billy Taylor, came back to haunt his old teammates. A fortnight ago, in the Motor City, Guidolin scored the winning goal. Last night, he duplicated that feat. He also figured in the first Wings' goal. His play against the Bruins this season must certainly make Weston Adams and Art Ross grind their teeth.

There was a heated argument over the second Detroit goal. Max McNabb got possession of the puck in his own territory and passed forward to Jimmy Conacher, who didn't make the completion until the disc had crossed the red line at center ice.

When Referee Clancy skated to the penalty box to give his version on who scored and who should get the assist, Coach "Dit" Clapper of the Bruins went after him hammer and tongs.

"I'm going to protest that goal," yelled Clapper. "The puck came out of the Detroit defending zone and the pass wasn't completed legally."

"I was skating with the play," yelled back Clancy, "and didn't see where the pass originated."

"Well, one of the three officials should have seen the play," Clapper retorted.

"Maybe you're right, Dit," replied Clancy, "but as far as I'm concerned, the goal was good."

It was a costly "miss" for the Bruins. It was just one of those things.

The Bruins can enter a protest, but the final word will be that of the referee. And no referee will yield to any such a complaint.

Now that they've got that bad game out of their systems, the Bruins should be ready for the Toronto Maple Leafs, who will make their initial appearance of the season at the Garden, Wednesday night.

Waterfield's Jaw Broken In Bears-Rams Donnybrook

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17 (AP)—The lustiest Donnybrooks in present-day football are the ding-dongs put on by the Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams—coached by ex-Bears.

The Bears and the Rams tangled—literally—here yesterday. The harvest: A 41-21 Bear victory, five-player expulsions, a possible broken jaw for Ram Star Bob Waterfield, 170 yards in penalties, and vigorous post-game fisticuffs.

Involved in the dressing room squabble were Ram head man Bob Snyder and assistant George Trafton, both former Bears, and Jack Matheson, 228-pound Chicago end.

Witnesses said Snyder landed the best blow—a solid right to Matheson's chin—after the player had walked into the Rams' quarters. Players from both squads milled at the door, but cooler heads prevailed.

A heated argument leading to the blows started when Matheson tried to take a ball away from and then assertedly struck Buddy Leininger, Ram equipment boy. Matheson contended it was the game ball; Leininger insisted it was a practice ball.

The Bear captain, Clyde (Bulldog) Turner later apologized for the act.

The five players dismissed from the game for various stages of unsportsmanlike conduct were Al Smith, Ed Sprinkle and Ed Cifers, all Bear ends, and backs Mel Bleeker and Dante Magnani of the Rams. Magnani is another ex-Bear.

Snyder charged that Sprinkle socked Waterfield in the jaw in the second quarter. X-ray pictures were being studied today.

"I knew it was going to be rough," Snyder said later. "This was a 'must' game for the Bears, and there isn't any love lost between us, anyway."

During the fourth quarter things got so rugged, papa Bear, George Halas, called his team over to the sidelines for a lecture. He said it was an order to "cut out the rough stuff."

The Bears were penalized 11 times for 114 yards and the Rams five times for 56 yards. Experienced observers detected several other infractions that might have been called. Between exchanges, Sid Luckman passed for three touchdowns and directed three on the ground to extend the Bears' win string to seven.

Henderson Lost For 3 Weeks

Murray Henderson is lost to the Bruins for three weeks. He was tossed into the dasher in the Forum Saturday night and received a shoulder separation . . . "Moe" probably will recuperate in his home town, Toronto . . . According to Coach Clapper, Babando's first goal against Canadiens Saturday was a gem. Pete went down the ice at top speed, faked as though he was going to rifle a shot right through Durnan. Then, when the French goalie committed himself, he shifted and pushed the puck into the net . . . Capt. Syd Abel was in the officials' hair all night. He must be the spokesman for Coach Tom Ivan, who has succeeded Jack Adams as bossman of the Wings.

Jack Crawford and Pete Babando did the scoring for the Bruins. "Squire" Crawford caged one in the second period from 10 feet inside the blue line, tying the count. Then, with about a minute and a half remaining in the final period, Babando slapped home the puck from a wild scramble in front of goalie Harry Lumley . . . The Wings always give the Bruins plenty of trouble. The Rossmen have only lost three games this season, but two of them went to the Motor City sextet . . . The Wings are close checkers and do not give the Bruins enough elbow room to be at their best.

"Butch" Keeling, a former Ranger, made his officiating debut here last night. He was assigned to share the duties of linesman with Bill Hayes . . . Keeling may be here as referee on Wednesday and he will also work the Bruins-Canadiens game next Saturday night . . . Hayes stated last night that his run in with "Butch" Bouchard, the Canadiens' defenseman, was greatly exaggerated. —GRIMES.

Crimson, Green Lines in Hero Roles

By BILL GRIMES

For the first time this fall, Harvard has come into the headlines under its own power. The Holy Cross victory was a gift from the Crusaders.

A month ago, at the football luncheon, two days after his Brown Bears had dropped a 13 to 10 decision to Dartmouth, Coach "Rip" Engle stated with much sincerity: "If we lose every one of our remaining games, I'll still say that Brown has a great football team."

He's right. But the Bears were beaten by a better club Saturday—Harvard.

It may be difficult to account for Harvard's complete reversal of form, but it is a very simple matter to put the finger on the department which played a major role in the upset. It was the Crimson linemen, particularly Howie Houstan, Jim Feinberg, Emil Drvaric, John Golczynski, "Chuck" Glynn, Wally Flynn and "Red" Hill.

Hal Moore and Paul Lazzaro, Harvard's seatbacks, thrilled as ball carriers, as did "Chip" Gannon. Jim Kenary, after he got the range, did some effective passing.

But, with all due respect to the other Crimson jerseyed warriors, Kenny O'Donnell was Dick Harlow's most valuable asset O'Donnell has been a lifesaver for Harvard all fall. He's one of the smartest youngsters ever to report to any Harvard coach. Due to his football instinct, he's usually in the right place at the right time.

With a little more than two minutes remaining in the final period, O'Donnell intercepted an Ed Finn pass and toted the ball back to midfield. That piece of heads-up football paved the way for Harvard to break the 7-7 deadlock and come through with a most unexpected victory.

It was also O'Donnell who set the stage for the first Crimson score.

In the third period, Finn noticed that the Harvard secondary was playing up very close, so he called for a quick kick. Fred Kopak dropped back fast and booted the pigskin well down the field.

Apparently, O'Donnell sensed what was going to happen, for he raced back deep into his own territory and came up with one of the most sensational catches ever seen in the Stadium. Racing at top speed toward his own goal line, he caught the ball as it was going over his head, wheeled and got back almost to midfield. If he had failed to reach the pigskin, it would have rolled inside the 10 yard stripe. Then the Crimson marched down the field to pay dirt and took over a 7 to 0 lead.

Dartmouth, like Harvard, is entitled to stand up and take a bow. The Big Green's line figured as prominently in downing Cornell as the Crimson's frontiersmen did against Brown.

And it's about time that someone mentioned the wonderful work Johnny Dell Isola has done this season with Dartmouth linemen. But for their sturdy and courageous front wall, the Indians wouldn't have tied Holy Cross or beaten Brown, Harvard and Cornell.

Except to predict that Denny Myers will have a rough assignment on his hands from here to the finishing wire, the least said about what happened to Boston College at Knoxville the better for all concerned.

The BU's Terriers ran roughshod over King's Point, as they were expected to do . . . Tufts wound up a very successful season with a 20 to 6 triumph over U. of Mass . . . Middlebury took the Green Mountain State championship by downing Vermont . . . Maine lived up to predictions by beating Bates for the Pine Tree State title.

One of New England's undefeated and untied elevens, Trinity, fell by the wayside, losing to Wesleyan which completed its season without a defeat . . . New Hampshire had a close call with the Uconn but preserved its perfect record.

Coach Earl Blaik did a fine job bringing Army back to tie Penn, one of the real powerhouses of the country and Penn State, winner over Navy, has only Pittsburgh to beat to finish undefeated and untied for their first time in the annals of the Nittany Lions.

TEAMWORK—Gene Derricotte (41), Michigan, off on 77-yard punt return for TD against Wisconsin. Michigan won with unexpected ease, 40-6. Michigan seems certain Rose Bowl choice.

Wildcats Prove Leahy Wasn't 'Saving' Irish

By FRANK LEAHY

Head Coach of Notre Dame Football Team

Paul Gallico once began a sports story by beseeching his pounding heart to remain still so he could write. We feel the same way after watching Northwestern score three times on Notre Dame before our lads finally subdued the Wildcats, 26-19.

Some scribes have hinted we were holding back the Irish this year. If we were holding them back Saturday at Evansville, it was cutting it mighty thin in any language.

We were not alone in finding Saturday tough on the heart. George Munger's must have sounded like a Model-T in low gear as he watched his Penn powerhouse being held to a 7-7 tie by Army. The future generals ruined the Quakers' chance of finishing a perfect season for the first time since 1904.

Bobby Dodd was another lad with ticker trouble. He had to sit there in Birmingham and take it as Alabama throttled his Engineers who were trying for a perfect season, 14-7. Harry Gilmer did the damage, completing 11 out of 13 pass tries. Red Drew's Crimson Tide may be headed for the Sugar Bowl.

After winning seven straight games, little Utah was upturned by Dixie Howell's Idaho Vandals, 13-6. Which only proves further that any team must be lucky, indeed, to attain an unblemished season.

It was quite a day for thrills all over the nation. Consider Eddie Anderson. Eddie had resigned as Iowa coach. He may have been sitting on the Hawkeye bench for the last time.

But he saw his lads, goaded to a do-or-die spirit by criticism of their coach, go out and whip a highly favored Minnesota, 13-7. You simply can't stop American boys in that mood.

Michigan stilled any lingering doubt as to its power by crushing a resurgent Wisconsin, 40-0. The victory clinched the Western Conference title for Fritz Crisler's lads and also the Rose Bowl bid.

Out on the coast, UCLA kept desperate Bowl hope alive with an impressive 34-7 win over Washington. The Bruins meet Southern California next week to settle the issue. The Trojans were idle Saturday and no doubt thinking up dire things to do to us when we face them Dec. 6 in Los Angeles.

Princeton and Columbia really went to town for their rooters, the Tigers whipping Yale, 17-0, and Lou Little's boys beating Holy Cross, 10-0. Princeton nailed down the "Big 3" title and shut out the Elf for the first time in a quarter of a century.

Last week we wrote that Northwestern might prove dangerous to us. That was understatement. They were a downright menace. Really, we had just as soon forget the prediction department. But, like the miscreant caught with the jewelry, we must confess to having 18 winners against 10 losses and two ties. Excuse us, please. This brought our season's total to 195 wins, 69 wrong-way guesses and ten ties.

Celtics Face 2 Ex-Mates

The St. Louis Bombers, who move into the Boston Garden on tomorrow night for their first duel with the Celtics, carry two men who have been under contract to the Russellmen.

The ex-Celts are Wyndol Gray, of Harvard fame, and Brooms Abramovic, former Pittsburgh sharpshooter. Gray played the entire season with the Celts last season before he was traded to St. Louis for Cecil Hankins. Abramovic never did don the local uniform before being sent to the Bombers in exchange for George Munroe.

Gray did not enjoy an outstanding season under Honey Russell and notched but 350 points in 53 games. Abramovic collected 527 points in 47 games, leading the league in scoring during early season until sidelined with an arm injury.

The St. Louis quintet finished second to Chicago in the Western Division last year, just one game back of the Stags. They lost out in the play-offs to Joe Fulks and the Philadelphia Warriors, the team that went on to capture the title. They dropped their season opener this year to the Chicago Stags by 80-70.

Dissension Rents PGA; $550,000 in Prizes for '48

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—In a calm before an expected storm, the Professional Golfers' Ass'n at its annual meeting today announced a 38-tournament program with a prize list of $550,000 for the 1948 campaign. The PGA's executive committee late this afternon was to meet with Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., golfer, who has charged he was unfairly omitted from the 1947 Ryder Cup team.

Another debate was expected with the arrival sometime during the three-day meeting of player Ben Hogan, who has demanded to be cleared of accusations that he participated in a "smear campaign" against President Ed Dudley. Dudley is up for re-election tomorrow and may be opposed for the office he has held for the last five years by Horton Smith.

George Schneiter, chairman of the PGA tournament committee, said that purses for the 1948 tournament program generally were increased to a $15,000 minimum. The PGA last year played 40 tournaments for a prize list of $508,000.

Hogan is determined—with a strong hint of throwing a punch or two in righteous indignation—to get a showdown on "utterly false accusations" that:

1—He is lined up with Dick Metz and Horton Smith in a faction which seeks to oust Dudley as president and is booming Smith for the post in the annual election scheduled tomorrow. Dudley has been PGA president for five years.

2—He was burned up when "retired" Byron Nelson, his former Texas golfing buddy, was named on the Ryder Cup team which trounced Britain at Portland, Ore., Nov. 2-3.

Weber Rated Favorite To Beat Brady in Garden

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Jackie Weber, Pawtucket, reigning N. E. lightweight boxing champion, will have the most vigorous opposition of his young career when he meets Dennis "Pat" Brady, New York and Hartford, in a ten-round non-title bout at the Boston Garden tonight. Weber balked at putting up his title a short while ago because Brady now lives in Gotham. But competition will be championship caliber.

Brady, though only 18, first climbed into a ring four years ago at the Ridgemore Grove, N. Y., and punched his way to a novice bantamweight championship.

Pat's latest success was the amazing two-round KO over Buddy Hayes at the Garden just four weeks ago. Buddy was hit so hard on that occasion that his handlers took close to a half-hour to revive him.

Brady will be the favorite of the crowd, though the money will be on Weber to win. Like Tommy Collins, another riotous young boxer, Brady has captivated the imagination of local fight fans.

Revere Sportsmen Urged To Organize Fish-Game Club

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

"Our group of sportsmen would like to organize a hunting and fishing club. Do you think this is a good idea?" asks Fred Gibbons, of Revere.

Our answer is an emphatic "YES!" . . . We believe that rod and gun clubs are necessary, and can do much in promoting sportsmanship, conservation and in aiding youthful outdoorsmen.

Here's what Mr. Gibbons has to say about his proposed organization:

"Most of us belong to the Beachmont Yacht Club, an ordinary workman's outfit, and the majority of the members are interested in fishing and hunting . . . We read your column on the value of skeet and trap shooting in cutting down gunning accidents, and we think it's a good plan.

"A few of us have been hunting since we were kids, while others have done little in this line. We don't pretend to know much about skeet and trap, but the facilities are close at hand for the time when our club becomes a reality. We hope to develop real skill at both hunting and fishing, so that we can give the correct advice to inexperienced lads joining the group.

"By the way, we enjoyed some nice coot shooting off Nahant, two weeks ago, bagging 17 of the scoter ducks."

Thus, it seems that a new fish and game club is about to be formed. Good luck to all concerned.

OUTDOOR O. O.'s: Dick Shaughnessy, Boston's skeet and trap shooting champion, apparently never misses a bird in the field, either. On recent forays into Cape covers, the marksman has downed numerous quail on the wing, hitting several near Dennis. He hopes to be a member of the U. S. Olympic gunning team, which may be organized early in 1948, if suggested plans materialize.

The New Hampshire woodcock in southern counties will run through Nov. 25, the extension granted because of the recent woods ban . . . Gus" Saunders, Newton nimrod, is another advocate of eating scoter ducks . . . "Coot are very edible," he told us. "I don't understand why so many hunters don't like 'em. Of course, we eat only the breasts, but they are delicious, tasting not unlike liver" . . . Gus says he will give us his special recipe for "coot a la king" later.

Early Start For Skiers

The New England skiing season is just around the turn in the trail. Off to the earliest start in years, several hundred enthusiasts shook the kinks out of their legs at two spots in Maine during the week-end: Rangeley and Andover, where tows were running, both places boasting good sport, with six to 14 inches of powder on the slopes.

In New Hampshire, limited skiing was possible in Pinkham Notch, snow depths totaling over a foot . . . The golf course at Crawford Notch also attracted scores of schussers . . . Franconia slopes, too, were skiable.

In Vermont, a few rubber-legged individuals clambered up the long Toll Road on Mt. Mansfield, finding enough powder for practice on the upper stretches of this famous ribbon.

With the Old Farmer's Almanac predicting a long, white winter, plus reports of the actual skiing above, local skiers are happy after waiting many long months to partake of their pastime.

QUICK CHRISTIES: Bill Eagleson, former instructor with the Mountain Troops, dropped in last week, stating that he will teach the art at the Temple Mountain, N. H., development this winter . . . Both skis and boots will be plentiful this year, although prices are up—like those on all articles today . . . The U. S. Olympic ski squad expects to sail from New York, Dec. 8, headed for Switzerland . . .

Yale, Penn Crews Race in Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—A "winter Poughkeepsie," with palm-lined Lake Worth as the tropical background for the first big time rowing regatta ever held in south Florida, will be held here Jan. 3 with Yale and Pennsylvania teams competing.

Planned as an annual event, the race will be limited to the two universities this year, but sponsors of the regatta said it was planned to expand to include all the nationally outstanding crews in a midwinter water carnival.

Both schools entering in the first event will send a varsity and junior varsity crew.

NO BOWL GAME

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP) Norm J. Daniels, coach of the unbeaten Wesleyan football team, said today that the Middletown, Ct., eleven would not accept a Glass Bowl bid because of the school's ban on post-season contests.

Daniels, here to attend a meeting of the New York Football Writers' Ass'n, added that his team also would be unable to meet New Hampshire, winner of all its eight games, in a suggested game for the New England championship for the same season.

The Glass Bowl is played at Toledo, O.

B. C. Faces Stiff Drills To Be Ready for Gaels

Having arrived back in the Hub today after their disastrous journey to play the Tennessee Volunteers, the Boston College Eagles are scheduled to undergo a stiff week of practice to prepare for their engagement with the Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's College of California at Braves Field Saturday.

Stunned by their one-sided loss to the Southerners, the Heightsmen have hopes of finishing their season with a 6-3 record by beating St. Mary's and Holy Cross. They'll have to show a complete reversal of form if they hope to accomplish such a deed.

Against the Vols, they could do nothing right. Their pass defense was pourous. Blocks and tackles were being missed and their highly-touted deception in the T-formation was lacking. Overconfidence, also, played a huge role in the defeat.

Though they haven't compiled an impressive season's record, the Gaels are not to be taken lightly. Under the tutelage of Jim Phelan, Notre Dame '17, the West Coast eleven has a tricky attack and one of the most publicized players ever to cavort on a West Coast gridiron in Squirmin' Herman Wedemeyer.

The scribes in LA and San Francisco have a flare for "building up" a player, and they've gone all out in praise for Wedemeyer, selected as an All-America as a sophomore. Much of their tub thumping must be true.

A look at his accomplishments of last season will also attest their plaudits. The slender 175-pound Hawaiian compiled an outstanding record. He was first in the nation in punt returns, second in total offense, third in kickoff returns, fifth in rushing and eighth in kicking and passing. He scored 55 points and threw seven touchdown passes.

A triple-threat, the handsome native of Honolulu is a standout long and short passer, a deadly coffin corner kicker and an elusive, breakaway runner. Smart and shifty, Wedemeyer is a hard man to tackle and should give the Eagles plenty of trouble.

He has an ideal running mate in Charles "Spike" Cordeiro, also a Hawaiian. Cordeiro is so short that he stands up in the huddle instead of bending over. He goes only 5 feet, five inches in height. However, he's the spark plug of the St. Mary's eleven. His lack of height is a definate asset when he carries the ball since he presents a very difficult target to get a shot at when trying to tackle him.

Cordeiro hits the line hard, and is elusively fast. He was born and brought up in Honolulu, and now makes his home in Oakland, Cal. Phelan has a singing quarterback in Dennis O'Connor, dubbed the "Singing Saint" on the West Coast. A senior, O'Connor has a fine Irish tenor voice and has been approached on several occasions by movie representatives.

ANDERSON SEES RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

EDGERTON, Wis., Nov. 17 (AP)—Football Coach Eddie Anderson, asked what his reaction would be if the Iowa Athletic board refused to accept the resignation he offered Friday, replied: "It doesn't seem likely."

Anderson answered newsmen's questions about his future plans with "no comment."

The Hawkeye coach, who resigned from his post because of "loose talk" about him and his squad, said he doubted if Iowa's surprise victory over Minnesota changed things.

Orange Bowl Possibilities Now Cut to Five Colleges

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 17 (AP)—Selections of teams for the 1948 Orange Bowl classic has narrowed down to five colleges—Alabama, Georgia Tech, Texas, North Carolina and Virginia—the Orange Bowl committee said today.

Two teams under consideration were eliminated Saturday in upsets when Oklahoma knocked out Missouri and LSU defeated Mississippi State.

Guy Butler, sports editor of the Miami Daily News, predicted the New Years Day classic would see Georgia Tech vs. Alabama. Miami Herald sports editor Jimmy Burns foresaw a Texas vs. North Carolina contest.

John G. Thompson, Orange Bowl committee chairman, said that there would be "no hurry in signing as this year we have the money to pay."

RED SOX GET STEPHENS, KRAMER

By JACK CONWAY

The Red Sox today obtained shortstop Vern Stephens and pitcher Jack Kramer from the St. Louis Browns, and that means Joe McCarthy will have the makings of a pennant winner in 1948. Stephens, in all likelihood, will play third base, a spot that plagued the Sox all last season. And curveball artist Kramer will help a pitching staff that fell apart this year because of the sore arms of Tex Hughson and Mickey Harris.

The Sox gave up seven players and an undisclosed amount of cash for the two players they finally landed after two years of negotiating. But not one of the seven figured in the Sox '48 plans, so the "undisclosed amount of cash" must be a staggering sum, indeed.

From the 1947 Sox, the Browns get infielder Eddie Pellagrini and catcher Roy Partee. The other men are from the Sox farm clubs. One is pitcher Jim Wilson, whose skull was fractured by a Hank Greenberg line drive in '45 and whose leg was broken at Louisville last year. He had a 4-4 record at Louisville. The others are pitcher Al Widmar, 8-8, at Louisville; outfielder Pete Layden who batted .269 at Louisville and New Orleans, and two more players to be announced later.

Layden, Wilson and Widmar were with the Sox last spring at Sarasota. Layden and Wilson never came north. Widmar made the first western trip before being shipped to Louisville.

VERN STEPHENS
Red Sox New Third Baseman

Cronin has been after both Stephens and Kramer for years. He almost had Stephen in '45, and almost had both Stephens and Kramer in '46. But both deals fell through at the last minute.

Stephens is a pull hitter and a long hitter, and since he bats right-handed he has made himself very much at home at Fenway Park.

During the war year of '44 he led the AL in runs-batted-in with 109, and in '45 he led the league in home runs with 24. That is a most creditable record because the left field stands in St. Louis are far, far away from home plate.

Stephens batted .307 in '46 but fell off to .279 last year when the Browns finished in last place. He had 83 RBI however, and 15 home runs.

Kramer had an 11-16 record last year but is recognized as one of the best right-handed pitchers in baseball. He won 17, lost 14 in '44 when the Browns, under Luke Sewell, won the pennant. His World Series record was 1-0. He won 13, lost 11 in '46, the year the Sox won the flag, and defeated the Sox three times.

He's a handsome individual and he's hot-tempered. Boston fans may remember the day in '46 he pushed an umpire all along the second base line and when ejected from the game, hurled the ball high and wide over the grandstand roof into the Fenway.

But he'll seek no altitude records under Joe McCarthy. The latter's business is winning pennants, and he's all business.

O'Connor to Quit Medford Post

By MIKE GILLOOLY

In the midst of flying rumors that Med ford High Schol would be invited to play in the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida, on Christ mas Day, it was learned authoritatively today that Coach Tom O'Connor of the Mustangs would hand in his resignation as head coach of the Mustangs at the conclusion of this season.

Although the source of information could not be disclosed, the report was issued from one of Coach O'Connor's closest contacts. There was strong foundation for the statement.

It is common knowledge that the leader of the Class A Eastern champions has not been enjoying the best of health this season.

Only last Saturday, Navy mates who had been in the service with O'Connor were amazed at his condition, and his worried state of mind. They told him that he "worried less before big battles than before sending his team against Chelsea" in a game that captured the state crown for his team.

O'Connor has been in coaching ranks since 1932. This term was interrupted only by 54 months in the U. S. Navy, in which he was a lieutenant commander. He graduated from Medford High School and St. Bonaventure College.

Although Medford high has not received any offers from Southern headquarters for a post season game, the players themselves have voted to "make a trip out of town" if they had the opportunity.

At the same time, they agreed to turn down the offer from the Shoe Bowl Committee for a contest at Manning Bowl, Lynn Dec. 14.

The Shriners in Miami, sponsors of the Christmas night Orange Bowl meeting, played host to Lynn Classical in Miami last year, and it's known that they approved of the type of play of New England teams.

If Medford should receive an invitation, the School Committee would have to approve of the game.

Medford high has never plaed a post-season game out of the state.

In regard to a possible bid from Miami, Coach O'Connor said: "I hope we'll be invited, for the sake of the kids. But we still have Malden to beat Thanksgiving Day. That's our biggest game!"

Myers Hits Tennessee For Roughing Diminick

By BILL GRIMES

Denny Myers has no high regard for southern hospitality as exercised by Tennessee's hosts at Knoxville. The B. C. coach, whose team took a 38-13 shellacking there last Saturday, spoke his piece at today's weekly football get-together at the Kenmore.

"They gave it to little Joe Diminick right in front of the bench," said Myers in angry mood. "They gave it to him so hard I had a hard time keeping the squad on the bench and preventing a free-for-all."

Myers was of the opinion that BC's numerous offside penalties were the result of trickiness by the Volunteer forwards "but my boys should know enough to watch the ball."

He said the loss of Ernie Stautner hurt the Eagles "because he's our pass-rusher. Offside penalties and the breaks also hurt. But Tennessee was ablaze from the start, and we couldn't put them out. We'll work overtime on pass defense the next two weeks," he concluded.

It is unlikely that BC ever will renew relations with Tennessee.

Dick Harlow was not present but Henry Lamar paid high tribute to guard Jim Feinberg. "He's kept our team together with his fine spirit," Lamar said. "He knows when to be serious, when to smile, and he knows how to play football."

Lamar also had a good word for Mel Freedman, the former junior varsity center who did some fine line-backing for the varsity against Brown and for tackle Howie Houston whose return from the injured list helped Harvard considerably.

"Harvard is not going to the Yale Bowl just for the trip," said Lamar, intimating that Harvard believes it has a good chance to win.

Bill "Biff" Glassford made his first appearance of the season at the luncheon, and everybody was glad to see the lad who coached New Hampshire to an undefeated season.

"We've had a 'feeler' from the Blass Bowl (Toledo)," said Glassford, "but we've had no definite offer. The boys are all for the trip, naturally, but the athletic association has the final say o such matters."

He said his New Hampshire wa willing to play undefeated Wes leyan for the "small college championship. Bill Sullivan im mediately offered Braves Field a the site but a moment latter wor came from Wesleyan that th college would play no post-seaso game.

Glassford was an all-Americ guard at U. of Pittsburgh. H coached under Herb Kopf at Ma hattan, Howie Odell at Yale an went to New Hampshire in '46.

Surprise visitor at the luncheo was Charlie O'Rourke. The o B. C. Sugar Bowler, now playin for the Los Angeles Dons, renewe acquaintances with Fr. Charl McCarthy who captained B. C. eleven the year followin O'Rourke's graduation.

Said Fr. McCarthy: "The pro if they played two games a wee would hurt college football mu more than they are doing. Fa like their style of play."
